Congressmen Prepare for 1932 Campaigns—
Start to Form Planks
DRY ISSUE UNSETTLED

Al Smith's Attitude Expected to Be Accepted by Chairman Raskob

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—(CPA)—The wind up of congress was much more of a routine affair than any adjournment in ten years. And the moment the session ended preparations began for political activity in anticipation of the 1932 presidential and congressional campaigns. Twelve months hence some of the states will be conducting primary elections and this means that the major parties will be crystallizing their respective positions before the end of the present year.

The Democratic national committee meeting here this week to decide ways and means of wiping out its deficit, brings national politics to the fore just as the gathering of Progressives immediately afterward focuses attention on the group that will probably hold the balance of power in the next congress.

Prohibition, which is supposed to be the principal interest of Chairman Raskob, is far from settled as a party issue but it is apparent that inside the Democratic party the wet element is beginning to feel its strength just as the Republicans in the eastern states have pushed prohibition ahead of all other issues.

Hoover Remains Dry

The Republican party, however, has been in a state of confusion since President Hoover is sticking to the dry side. The Democrats, on the other hand, have a financial situation to face and many of the outstanding contributors are not likely to be donating their funds unless the party takes a position on prohibition. This is probably just as true of dry contributors as wets. There are rumors of course that the party if a wet platform is adopted, though they will go on record against a wet program. The drift among the Democrats is decidedly toward the wet side, while the Republicans, in congress particularly, openly say they are unable to do anything but follow the Hoover position since he probably will be the candidate of the party for re-election.

Former Governor Al Smith's power among the Democrats is such that he will have much to say about the making of the platform and just now he has let it be known that he doesn't think it necessary to decide the question until the national conventions are assembled. This is believed to be acceptable to Mr. Raskob, because for the next few months while the party funds are being raised the prohibition question will probably be kept in the background as will other controversial points.

The Democrats exude confidence and the meeting of the national committee and the conferences that will take place in the next several days are really in anticipation of the dominant part the Democrats expect to play in national affairs in the next twelve months.

Mr. Hoover's veto of the Muscle Shoals bill is an event of much political significance. It allows him definitely with those who do not favor public ownership or federal regulation of public utilities. The presidential message in this instance will probably afford the campaign orators plenty of ammunition on the power issue. It does not contain anything new so far as the Hoover attitude is concerned, for he has all along been opposed to government entry into the power business or any other business except as an emergency measure.

Woman, 74, Is Fatally Hurt
In Auto Crash

Mrs. A. H. Hummel, 74, who lives at the corner of Lawrence and Atlantic, was fatally injured about 7:30 last night when she was struck by an automobile driven by Mrs. Frank Allman, 814 E. North-st. Mrs. Hummel was taken to St. Elizabeth hospital in an ambulance, but she died about 5:30 this morning. Injuries and shock were said to have caused her death. Her left arm was broken, her right leg was fractured, and she was cut about the face.

Mrs. Hummel was walking on the west crosswalk on Drew-st. from the north to the south side of North-st. when she was hit. Following an investigation, Thursday morning, District Attorney Stanley A. Stalder announced there would be no inquest. He said the accident was purely an accident and that his probe showed that Mrs. Allman had stopped her car within 12 feet after the accident.

The body was taken to the Brett-schneider funeral home pending the arrival of relatives from Riverside, Ill. A daughter, Mrs. E. C. Schmidt, resides in that city. She was expected in Appleton Thursday afternoon.

REVEAL TEXT OF
INDIAN-BRITISH
PEACE ACCORD

Gandhi Pleads for Support to Attain Goal of Independence

New Delhi, India—(CP)—The text of the peace pact between Mahatma Gandhi and the viceroy of India, ending the nationalist civil disobedience campaign was made public here today and placed before the British parliament in London and the council of the government of India.

At a new round table conference, The Mahatma, speaking to newspaper correspondents, after the text had been distributed, addressed an appeal to his countrymen to support the agreement and give him a chance to attain his goal of independence without violence.

The essence of the agreement is a virtual cancellation of the civil disobedience campaign and boycott measures which have won for Gandhi and his Nationalist followers a large measure of the demands they outlined a year ago at the outset of their protracted period of passive resistance.

After stating that the Nationalists agreed to participate in the second round table conference on the principle of a federated India, the 5,000-word pact says civil disobedience in defiance of any law, non-payment of taxes and issuance of publications supporting civil disobedience shall be discontinued.

Must Not Endanger Law
Regarding the Nationalist boycott measures, the pact declares that the government does not discourage promotion of Indian native industries, provided it does not interfere with freedom of action by individuals and does not prejudice the maintenance of law and order.

Picketing against the purchase and sale of foreign goods or against consumption of liquors and drugs shall be unaggressive, and conducted only within the limits of the law. It stipulates that the provisions of the law, the privilege shall be suspended in the area affected.

Gandhi withdrew his demand for an investigation of police methods after Lord Irwin argued that such an inquiry inevitably would lead to charges and counter-charges which would militate against the establishment of peace.

After stating that the government withdraws the ordinances against civil disobedience, the agreement stipulates that the provisions of those ordinances of non-violent disobedience shall be withdrawn and all political prisoners arrested for non-violent offenses shall be released.

Property confiscated for non-payment of taxes shall be returned, but when such property has been sold to a third party the transaction, so far as the government is concerned must be regarded as final.

Peasants in the salt districts shall be allowed to make and sell salt within their own villages, but not outside them.

For State Control

Chairman Raskob (above), in opening his formal address to the Democratic national committee at Washington today declared the time had arrived to "re-dedicate the party" to make it one of all the people and a liberal party. He favored state liquor control.

Dozen Buildings Damaged
by Fire at Eagle—Loss
Over $50,000

Eagle, Wis.—(CP)—Fire that swept through frame and brick business buildings here for three hours tonight, destroyed a large part of the village. The fire started in a soft drink parlor operated by Louis Sasso. The flames spread quickly to a dozen adjoining buildings, including the bank of Eagle, a two-story structure, which was damaged to the extent of $5,000, bank of details estimated.

Sasso, his wife and three children barely escaped from their upstairs living quarters. As the flames spread to the Eagle Telephone exchange, Mrs. Louella Anderson, the operator refused to leave her post. She was finally carried out of the building after placing calls for assistance to Mukwonago and Palmyra.

A dwindling supply of water hampered the firemen until six large tank trucks were pressed into service to bring water from North Prairie, six miles away.

BERTRAND RUSSELL
IS HEIR TO TITLE

London—(CP)—The British peerage today had for a new member Bertrand Russell, English author and philosopher, who through the death of his brother, the oft-married second Earl Russell at Marseilles Tuesday night, becomes the third Earl Russell.

The end came suddenly to the second Earl, who was known for his unorthodoxy and once was sentenced by the house of lords to three months in prison on a charge of bigamy. He was enroute to England from the Riviera. Stricken with a heart attack, he died in a Marseilles hotel. He was 65.

BRITISH ENVOY

Stimson Hopes New Accord
Won't Force Change
in London Treaty

Washington—(CP)—The naval agreement between Italy and France, bringing all five major sea powers into line on limitation, bore today the American government's tentative approval.

President Hoover and Secretary Stimson broke silence on the new agreement late yesterday, issuing statements of praise. Mr. Hoover said it was matter for congratulation in the whole world.

The agreement's text was not at the time in the hands of the executive, but was expected to be delivered some time today by Sir Ronald Lindsay, the British ambassador.

Awaiting that text, Secretary Stimson expressed hope the new pact would not require revision of the London treaty which bound the United States, Great Britain and Japan to limited naval programs. Revision would require senate ratification or amendments.

Because Great Britain was satisfied, he said, the chance that she might invoke the treaty's escalator clause to meet French construction was removed. Britain reserved that right as long as her cross-channel neighbor stayed out so the limitation pact, and the United States in turn held the right to match any additions to the British fleet, ton for ton.

The president saw in the Franco-Italian accord completion of the naval limitation program he initiated two years ago.

"I feel that the responsible heads of governments and the peoples of the world owe a debt of gratitude to the infinite patience and ability of all who have collaborated so effectively toward the settlement," he said, "and that they realize the fortunate augury which the solution of this problem by direct conversations between the interested parties contains for the progress in the removal of the obstacles in the path of a general and reasonable limitation of all armaments."

To that Stimson added: "I think we may take great satisfaction that the movement among these five greatest naval powers, which was originally initiated in 1922 by this country and which was again renewed in 1929 by this administration under President Hoover, has finally apparently reached a complete solution and stopped all naval competition between these five powers."

Few Prohibition Laws In Past Session Of Congress

Washington—(CP)—The session of congress which ended yesterday accomplished little prohibition legislation but it left for its successor of next December plenty of highly controversial liquor matters.

All bills and resolutions die at the end of a congress but their authors seldom fail to introduce them again first chance. Among those abandoned past session was the proposal, originated by the Wickersham commission for trial of minor offenders without jury. The house passed it, but it died on the senate calendar.

Denver—(CP)—A wild March blizzard raged over the Rocky mountain region today and was sweeping cold and snow into the Mississippi valley.

Blinding snow carried on the wings of a north wind curtailed air travel and made highways hazardous in the mountain states.

With the storm moving eastward, below freezing temperatures and snow were forecast tonight and tomorrow for parts of Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, Illinois, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

Snow was falling today in Colorado, Nebraska, the Dakotas, Wyoming and Montana.

A blizzard lashed Wyoming and travel bureaus there and in Colorado warned motorists not to venture out in the storm.

MAL S. DAUGHERTY
CONVICTED BY JURY

Faces Sentence for Abstracting Funds While Bank President

Washington Courthouse, Ohio—(CP) Mal S. Daugherty, brother of former United States Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty and a figure in the senate's investigation of oil land leases several years ago, today faced a prison sentence for abstracting funds while president of the closed Ohio State bank.

Daugherty was found guilty late yesterday by a Fayette-co jury which required but one ballot. The 65-year-old former banker, whose three weeks' trial was interrupted by the death of his aged mother, sat unmoved as he heard the verdict.

His attorneys announced a motion for a new trial will be filed, pending which his sentence will be delayed.

He was found guilty on all five counts of the indictment, each of which carries a maximum sentence of 30 years imprisonment and a fine of $10,000.

Shouse Says Group Won't
Sponsor Individual Candidates in 1932

Washington—(CP)—Senator Robinson, Democratic leader in the senate, took the platform at the Democratic national committee meeting today after a speech by Chairman Raskob to the effect that "the crisis has been needlessly precipitated upon the Democratic party."

Washington—(CP)—A call for the Democratic party to sponsor state control of liquor in the next presidential campaign was sounded today by Chairman John J. Raskob.

Speaking at today's meeting of the national committee and party leaders, he proposed that the eighteenth amendment be retained but that a new amendment be adopted permitting any state to direct and control the manufacture, transportation and sale of liquor.

"I should like to christen this the home rule plan," he said.

An intensely interested audience, representing every type of thought and opinion in the party, heard him. The meeting had previously greeted with cheers, his assertion he did not intend to ask the committee to commit itself on questions of policy.

Absent at the morning session, Alfred E. Smith, the party's nominee for president in 1928, attended after lunch. He was cheered as he took a place on the platform. He was accompanied by James M. Cox, the presidential nominee in 1920.

The enthusiastic gathering also applauded a statement by Jonett Shouse, executive director of the national committee, that the party organization would sponsor no individual candidates for the presidency.

"My recommendation is," Chairman Raskob said to a tensely interested audience, "to let the eighteenth amendment be not repealed but amended by a new amendment, providing that nothing in the eighteenth amendment shall prevent any state from directing a controlling, without federal interference, the manufacture and sale of liquor within its borders; provided that the plan first be submitted to the people of that state and approved by a state-wide referendum."

Double Ratification
"It also would provide that the amendment shall not be effective unless and until it shall have been ratified not by the legislatures but by constitutional conventions."

Raskob reiterated his recommendation that "this committee suggest and advise that the next political convention platform contain a plank to retain the eighteenth amendment but with a new amendment which will permit any state to direct and control the manufacture, transportation, and sale of liquor provided the people by conventions in three fourths of the states ratify the amendment."

"This plan," the chairman said, "prevents the return of the saloon." "There is no question about the terms wet and dry," he said.

"It is felt by many of our southern states desire to remain dry," he continued, assuring that under his program of state control, these states could do so and still retain the cooperation of the other states.

"We cannot in one breath call ourselves a Democratic party or a rural party and deny the people this right in the next," he declared.

LAUD DEMOCRATS FOR BACKING SHOALS BILL

Madison—(CP)—Only one Democrat sits in the state senate and yet that body last night bowed to his wishes to commend the 23 Democrats in congress who voted to override President Hoover's veto of the Muscle Shoals bill.

Sen. Eugene A. Clifford, Juneau, the sole Democrat in the upper house, offered a resolution commending the 23 Democrats and it was unanimously adopted. Copies of the resolution were ordered sent to the Democrats and to the president.

Sen. Oscar Morris, Milwaukee, Conservative Republican, asked Sen. Clifford if he was aware of plans being made to "wipe out" the Democratic party in Wisconsin. He referred to proposed changes in the election laws.

"I'll take a chance on that," Sen. Clifford replied.

CHICAGO GIRL AMNESIA
VICTIM IS IDENTIFIED

Chicago—(CP)—A pretty red-haired amnesia victim, lying delirious in a hospital here, was identified by her brother-in-law today as Miss Kathryn Snell, 19. Her mother said the girl was recently released from a psychiatric hospital. She lives with her parents here. When picked up yesterday a card bearing a St. Paul address was found in her purse.

SCION OF WEALTH IS ARRESTED AS ROBBER

Chicago—(CP)—Edward "Tody" Dillon, 24, scion of a wealthy St. Louis family, was held to the grand jury today in bonds of $145,000 on five charges of robbery.

Dillon was arrested last week as he attended a theatre with the 17-year-old daughter of a manufacturer. More than 40 victims of holdups have identified Dillon, police said, as the robber who extracted sums ranging from 50 cents to $15 from them.

His suave, polite, erudite manners had gained for Dillon entry in the homes of some of the city's socially elite, and because of his politeness, the police were at first reluctant to arrest him. When the flood of victims identified him as a robber, police said Dillon confessed.

VANDERHEYDEN, CITY COUNCIL IN HOT DEBATE

Give Me Time to Prove Over-charge Claims, Alderman Demands

Eyes blazing, fists pounded and venom-charged words split the air at council meeting Wednesday night when Alderman W. H. Vanderheyden objected to being forced to substantiate charges made by him at the last meeting of the council that the city was being overcharged for some of its purchases.

Declaring that his offer to back his charges at the last meeting of the council had been refused, and that since with his own work to go to the matter, the fifth ward alderman asserted that he objected to being a "choro boy" for the council.

"Those bills are in the vault where anyone can see them," he shouted. "And I'm prepared to devote any time I have to go over them with the merchants of this city. But am I part of a committee or a choro boy? I have a right to state my views on anything in this council. This is just a little political stuff. I know what you want. You want me to make charges against the businessmen I do business with. This is just a little flare-back from the incinerator fight, that's what it is. And you can't force me to do a task like this if I don't want to!"

Asks for "Facts"

"Mr. Vanderheyden's reaction is just exactly what I expected," Mr. Packard retorted. "If he had facts, I want him to present them. He didn't give them and I have my suspicions why. This is no kick-back from the incinerator wrangle, nor have I any interest in his political successes or defeats—and as you know I have no political aspirations. Mr. Vanderheyden has been his own judge and jury."

"However, I am perfectly willing to grant an extension of time until the next council meeting. The charge was so sweeping that it isn't fair to the merchants not to have it proved. Several businessmen have talked with me about it and I think they should be answered. Apparently the over-charges were not particularly prominent, or the fifth ward alderman would have found them more easily."

Alderman Vogt maintained that the merchants had been insulted and that in all fairness to them the council should insist upon proof. He felt that it was not right to permit one member of the council to make charges of that kind without substantiation.

Alderman Vander Heyden flared back with the accusation that other members of the council had made charges without being forced to prove them. He said several months ago someone had said that dealers in the city were stealing from each other, and that another person had accused the council of graft. He demanded answers to those charges.

Promises Report

"I'll make a report on this when I get ready and when I do it will be a dandy," he said. "But you can't hound me into it."

Alderman Vogt explained that in his statement about dealers "stealing" from each other he had merely referred to what had been told him at a junk ordinance hearing about the dangers of having a community junk yard. Alderman Steinhauer stated that in his talk about "graft" he had merely said that a person had to have a graft to get something through the council. He added that he had checked over the city bills in question and had found that the prices were low.

Later in the meeting Alderman Vanderheyden questioned the right of any person or committee to buy articles without first consulting the purchase committee, asking the attorney if purchases made without the sanction of the committee were legal. Alderman Wassenaar, sole member of the price committee, answered that the committee is not a purchasing but a price-investigating committee.

U. S. CAPITAL MAY GO TO COLOMBIA OIL AREA

Bogota, Colombia—(AP)—The way was paved today for a reentry of American oil company capital into Colombia, with signature to the long pending petroleum bill and signing of a contract returning the cancelled Barco concession to the Colombian Petroleum company, controlled by the Gulf Oil company and its subsidiary, the Caribb syndicate.

The petroleum bill, while still offering some restrictions to exploitation of Colombia's potential oil fields, was arranged through collaboration of parliamentary committees, representatives of American oil companies, and George F. Rutledge American attorney, who helped solve the Mexican oil law problem. The new law will become effective in sixty days. Bids will be received by the government for concessions.

$3,300 Is Cost Per Month For Lighting Streets Here

With nearly a thousand street lights sprinkled over the city, it costs Appleton approximately $3,300 every month to light its streets. A map showing the location and size of all street lights, made following a survey of the lighting system ordered by the street lighting committee, has been completed in the engineer's office.

Overhead street lights burning all night include 83, 100-candle-power lights, 542, 250-c. p., 72, 400-c. p., and eight 600-c. p. In the group, "miscellaneous ornamentals," burning all night, there are 10, 100-c. p., 600-c. p., 24, 400-c. p., and nine 37,250-c. p. There are 31 new ornamental lights burning all night and 133 which burn until midnight.

The map showing the location of the lights looks more like a graph of the cockroach spread, for the brown, black, yellow, blue, violet, green and yellow circles used for locating the lights have a peculiar resemblance to fat-bellied, many-legged cockroaches. The lights on the Lawe-st bridge look like a colony of black ones, fat brown cockroaches appear to be creeping up to city hall, the Oneda-st bridge provides a solid line of black ones and a long line of small blue ones parade down College-ave four abreast.

NOTE INCREASE IN NUMBERS FILING INCOME REPORTS

Only Slightly More Than 2,000 of 15,000 Have Returned Blanks, However

A slight increase was noted Wednesday in the number of people applying at the office of Leo J. Tuonen, assessor of incomes for Outagamie and Waupaca-counties, for aid in filling out their state income tax returns. Up to Wednesday only slightly more than 2,000 of the 15,000 blanks mailed to residents of the two counties had been returned to Mr. Tuonen's office.

Under the state law, every person who received a blank through the mails must fill out that blank and return it. This must be done regardless of whether the person receiving the blank earned enough money under the state law or not. The law says that a single person with an income of $500 or more and a married person with an income of $1,500 or more, must file a return. However, if a resident did not earn these amounts but received a blank in the mails, this blank must be filled out and returned.

Failure to file a return in compliance with these regulations will result in a fine of $5 against the person who fails to file.

All income tax returns must be filed on or before March 16.

Junk Ordinance Referred To Committee For Further Revision

SIX-MONTHS CLAUSE HIT BY ALDERMEN

Objections Made to Section Forcing Out Dealers in Residential Districts

Barring the one flash created by the Vanderheyden overcharge eruption and a long discussion of the revised junk ordinance, the council meeting Wednesday night plodded steadily along the path of proposed ordinance. Long, detailed, legal documents were read one after the other, and one by one the council rubber-stamped them "refer to the ordinance committee and order published."

Chief objections to the junk ordinance were the inclusion of the clause automatically putting junk dealers in residential districts out of business in six months, and the stipulation that junk in residential districts be housed in fireproof buildings.

MERCHANTS OFFER THEATRE TICKETS WITH $5 PURCHASES

Appleton merchants are doing things in a large way this season. This fact became more apparent when it was announced recently that with every five dollar purchase during spring opening, March 12, 13 and 14, a free theatre ticket will be given.

The tickets are good for one admission to either the Fox or Appleton theatres or for two admissions to the Elita. They may be obtained with the five dollar purchases during the three days of the opening only Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week and must be used before April 1.

Meanwhile, every merchant participating in spring opening has been requested to arrange with the Chamber of Commerce for his share of tickets.

The theatre ticket arrangement, plus the street decorations soon to be announced, the window contest and the optimistic predictions of continued good weather are all pointing toward an early business boom in the city.

FINISH PROGRAM FOR CAMP MEETING

Boy Scout Leaders to Meet at Fond du Lac to Plan for Summer

The program for a meeting of the Wisconsin boy scout camp committee at Hotel Retlaw, Fond du Lac, Friday, has been completed, according to M. G. Clark, valley scout executive. Similar camp meetings are being held throughout Wisconsin this week at Battle Creek, Mich.; Joliet, Ill., and at Terre Haute, Ind. It is expected four or five members of the valley council camp committee will attend the Fond du Lac meeting.

Round table discussions will be held during the morning and afternoon sessions. At 12:30 a luncheon will be served at the hotel, at which talks will be given by camp leaders of valley scout organizations. A dinner will be served at 6 o'clock in the evening, at which more short talks will be given by leaders.

The principal address of the program will be given in the evening by Harvey Gordon, national camp engineer. The topic of his address will be "Scouting's Opportunity Through Camping."

SNOW, COLDER IS FRIDAY PREDICTION

The weatherman insists that winter weather will arrive here within the next 24 hours, according to his predictions for Thursday night and Friday. Snow will fall, and the mercury will drop, he says.

Similar predictions made yesterday failed to materialize, and instead of winter weather this vicinity enjoyed clear skies and moderate temperatures.

Winds are shifting in the east and northeast, and a cold wave is on the way. At 6 o'clock Thursday morning the mercury registered 20 degrees above zero, while at noon it registered 38 degrees.

The ordinance placing 120 feet on the back side of Wisconsin-ave in the local business district was referred to their ordinance committee and ordered published. A public hearing will be held on the ordinance on March 16. Other ordinances referred to the ordinance committee and ordered published were those dealing with the transfer of lot 2, block 2, Newberry addition to the Fourth ward into the local business district, the transfer of two lots on the north-west corner of Superior- and Wisconsin- into the commercial and light manufacturing district, the one authorizing garbage collection twice instead of once a week from May to September inclusive, and one striking the bridge tender's salary from the salary ordinance. The latter amendment was suggested because it will give the street and bridge committee power to establish the bridge-tender's job on an 8-hour instead of a 12-hour basis, giving work three men instead of two, and to the salary in accordance with the employment classifications.

Colorful Senators Say Goodbye

The United States senate lost several of its most colorful figures with the departure of these six members on March 4, along with seven others. They are: (1) J. Thomas Heflin of Alabama, whose desertion of the Democrats to fight Al Smith in 1928 cost him reelection in 1930; (2) Senator Furnifold M. Simmons of North Carolina, 77-year-old Democrat; (3) Charles S. Deneen of Illinois, defeated for the Republican renomination by Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, who lost to a Democrat; (4) Coleman L. Blease, colorful South Carolina Democrat; (5) Guy Goff of West Virginia, a Republican and a millionaire; (6) Frederic H. Gillett of Massachusetts, 80-year-old Republican.

R. H. Hoffmann was elected president this week of Local No. 10, Bricklayers, Masons, and Plasterers' International Union, not of a barbers' union, as stated in Wednesday's issue of the Post-Crescent.

gress for many months were finally enacted into laws through sheer force of public opinion, and there is little need of my taking your time to explain the many economic advantages which these laws will secure for our working people. It is my belief that the Democratic party should pledge itself to do everything possible along sound economic lines that will tend to level the curves of depression, thus reducing the risks of suffering such as millions of our people have had to endure during the past 15 months."

Raskob said that capital and labor are dependent on each other. It was to the advantage of capital to pay as large wages as possible to increase the consumption power.

Raskob's speech was greeted with applause and a number stood, but on the front row Senator Hull of Tennessee, vice chairman of the House, and others from the south remained seated and silent.

Many Congress Members Not Rushing Homeward

Washington—Free from parliamentary worries for nine long months, most of congress were homeward bound today, but an unusually large number were detained in Washington.

The meeting of the Democratic national committee, the approaching Progressive conference, and investigations, delayed most of these. Others remained by choice, because they find it easier to rest away from their constituencies.

The recess is signally marked by absence of the usual congressional "juncts." On these members of congress travel, at government expense, investigating subjects for future legislation.

Vice President Curtis was one of the first to leave the capital. He departed for a 10 day vacation at Miami. Republican Leader Watson of the senate, is remaining here for the present, with future plans indefinite.

Democratic Leader Robinson also is staying for a couple of weeks, playing golf, attending the Democratic meeting, and sitting in on an investigating committee. He plans to return to Arkansas soon, however, to do a little work and rest at Hot Springs. He may go to Europe later.

Senator Borah of Idaho, will remain probably until the hot weather arrives. He spends more time in Washington between sessions than most of his colleagues.

Senator Norris of Nebraska, will stay here until after the Progressive conference next week and then return to Nebraska. He has a summer home in Wisconsin but plans to spend considerable time in his home town, McCook, supervising construction of a house.

Senator Fess of Ohio, probably will alternate between his home and his job here as chairman of the Republican national committee.

Speaker Longworth plans to stay in the capital until May, playing golf and working.

Democratic Leader Garner of the house, has already left for his home in Uvalde, Texas, where he will seek diversion in hunting and fishing. Republican Leader Wilson of the house, will soon return to Connecticut, for frequent trips to an isolated backwoods camp in northern New England.

Planning more elaborate trips are Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, and Vandenberg of Michigan. Reed will leave in a few days for Bermuda, Vandenberg will start next week end for the Orient, taking in Hawaii, Japan, China, and the Philippines before returning to the states.

He will combine business and pleasure as he wants to study conditions in the Philippines and China.

Among those who will remain in Washington for golfing vacations before going home are Senators Couzens of Michigan, McNary of Oregon, and Capper of Kansas. They frequently play, together,

RACINE PAYS LAST TRIBUTE TO COOPER

Thousands See Arrival of Train Bearing Body of "Dean of House"

Racine—(AP)—The benediction of thousands greeted the arrival home today of the body of Henry Allen Cooper, revered representative in congress from the First Wisconsin district for 35 years.

The funeral train bearing the body of the 80-year-old "dean of the house" was met by a hushed throng at the Milwaukee road station at 12:20 p. m. accompanied by an escort of statesmen and civic groups, the casket was carried to memorial hall where it was placed on a dais, flanked by countless flowers and ferns.

The entire city suspended activities during the period from 1:30 to 3:30 p. m. while the body lay in state and a crowd, which overflowed into surrounding streets, filed slowly through the flower-scented hall.

X-Ray Pioneer No Martyr To Science, He Points Out

Baltimore—(AP)—Dr. Christian Deetjen has just given an arm to his devotion to the science of the X-ray, of which he is a pioneer, but he makes a grimace at the use of the term "martyr to science."

Widowed to the tradition of medical anonymity, Dr. Deetjen would see no interviewers and refused to permit his photograph to be taken after the operation, the result of over-exposure to the X-ray.

In all he has undergone 75 operations. But he told friends he does not consider himself a martyr at all. They said he indicated that if he had known what ravages the X-ray would cause he might not have taken up that branch of medical science.

"The only real hero is the person of the type of Richmond Pearson Hobson who knows beforehand that he has to sacrifice himself to accomplish his task," Dr. Deetjen told friends. Neither he nor they would comment on a report that he planned to give up X-ray work for several years as a result of the latest sacrifice.

Along with Dr. Frederick H. Baetjer, roentgenologist of Johns Hopkins university, Dr. Deetjen is known as "the last of the old guard" of X-ray pioneers. He brought his knowledge of the then new science to Baltimore late in the nineties.

A cheerful gray-haired man in his sixties, a native of Austria, Dr. Deetjen underwent the operation which took his left arm off at the elbow with a smile and quickly resumed his work. The operation was performed by Dr. Alexis McGlennan, who first operated on him in 1911.

Letters, telegrams, flowers and gifts arrived at the hospital by the score when his latest sacrifice became known.

TRADERS WATCH POLITICS IN FOREIGN LANDS

Naval Pact Between Italy and France Is Given Close Attention

BY CHARLES F. SPEARE

Copyright 1931 by Cons. Press

New York — As a rule the rank and file in Wall Street do not get greatly excited over foreign political developments, but considerable attention has been given this week to the naval pact between Italy and France, and today to the news that a treaty has been reached in India between the Indian Nationalist party and the British government. It is a great deal to British traders. An expansion in the trade of Great Britain, in turn, helps the foreign commerce of this country.

Wall Street's rank and file are still provincial in their views and generally pass by notable announcements that come from the capitals of Europe as if they did not concern the welfare of the United States. However, the generally better tone in European politics, including the increasing strength of the government party in Germany since last December, is now slowly being reflected in the prices of European dollar bonds. Recently there has been a broader and a stronger market in some of these issues than in the loans of American corporations.

Big Appreciation
It is estimated that the appreciation in German government municipal and corporate bonds, since they touched their low quotations in January, has amounted to nearly $100,000,000, or about 8 per cent on the total German loans listed in New York. The so-called Young loan is up 10 points, the Dawes loan 5 points, Prussian issues from 10 to 12 points, those of the German mortgage banks, of which about $125,000,000 are outstanding, from 12 to 13 points and various public utility and industrial German loans an average of over 10 points. It is in this group that the greatest response has so far been made to the betterment in political sentiment abroad.

At the same time the European loans that carry the highest credit ratings have been steadily advancing. Nearly all are today quoted at their best figures. This includes French government, municipal and railroad issues, Belgian government loans, and the various Dutch, Swiss, Danish, Swedish and Norwegian national and municipal loans. Japanese, Austrian and Greek loans have also gained additional ground in recent weeks.

A list has just been published of twenty-five dollar loans whose present price is greatly above the initial offering figure. In connection with this, it is shown that bonds originally amounting to $425,000,000 that have already anticipated their maturity or are in the process of being called before maturity, show an increment in the principle over the purchase price of nearly $45,000,000, or the equivalent of nearly 10 1/2 per cent on the investment. This list is made up chiefly of French, Swiss, Belgian, Scandinavian and one or two high coupon South American bonds.

Doesn't Tell Story
It does not, however, tell the complete story of the retirement from the American market of foreign dollar obligations, for the amount repurchased by nationals has been nearly the equivalent of that on which maturity has been anticipated or others retired in the natural operation of substantial annual sinking funds.

Bankers here who have made the important European loans in the past ten years are deeply interested in the reports that France is about to enter into arrangements with Italy for a bond issue said to be $100,000,000. It is obvious that France will not undertake this alone and that she will have the assistance of those European bankers who have in the past been members of a broad international group in loans of this sort. It is also quite possible that there may be a substantial American participation, although within a comparatively few weeks New York bankers have denied that they were planning to make any new commitment to Italy. In 1925 an American group loaned Italy $100,000,000, offering a 7 per cent bond at 94 1/2. These bonds are quoted today near 100. They have been as low this year as 92 1/2.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel. Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers. Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, just a healing, soothing vegetable laxative safe and pleasant. No gripping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They help cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action. "If you have a 'dark brown mouth'—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you should find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. Thousands take them every night to keep right. Try them. 15c, 30c, 60c.

Here Is Way To Spend Nice Weekend After Trout, Pike

BY R. A. CLAPLIN

If the proposed bill to open pike and pickerel fishing May 1 meets with favor in the legislature, here is an outline of a good week-end trip for anglers who like a bit of work, diversity in the fish to be caught and roughing it in connection with their fishing: Drive up through the Menominee reservation on Highway 55 to any of the good spots on the Wolf river between Langlade and the northern boundary of the Indian land. You can get in to most of these places with your car.

If conditions are favorable and you leave home early enough to be on the stream by daylight, you should be able to catch enough trout for a nice breakfast on the shore of the stream.

After that is over, you can take Highway 64 over to where it crosses a branch of the Evergreen. There you can indulge in further trout angling. From there you can continue on to White Lake where you can get a boat and cast for pickerel. These fish are quite plentiful there. Or, if you prefer, when you are done with breakfast on the Wolf, you can take 64 in the opposite direction until you reach the point where it crosses the Oconto. Upstream a distance you will find more opportunities for some good trout fishing.

Bass At Boulder
When through there, you can drive over to Boulder Lake for some good bass fishing. Perhaps you may wish, also, to go on to Berry Lake, near Underhill. Bass fishing is also good on that water. There are some other lakes along the way that contain northern pike and pickerel. Inquiry will bring you directions to the best places, as well as information as to whether the fish are biting or not.

Assuming that the first day of your trip is Saturday, and you are camping over night, you can continue on to Gile's Lake, where you can take Bluegills for a nice dinner. From there you might wish to drive to Lakewood and out to Wabesee Lake. At that point you can walk a short distance to the north branch of the Oconto and whip that stream for trout. It is especially good for early season fishing.

I have made this trip at different times during the past years and have always had good fishing of some kind. If you are a fly fisherman you can use the feathers to a good advantage on the Oconto. But for the lakes mentioned I have had the best of success using red and white plugs for the bass and pike. However, that is largely a matter of individual preference. You will get fish if you know how to go after them in any of the waters mentioned, and the trip is an ideal one for a weekend.

It also disturbed their sleep at night."

DEGENERATION NOT LIBERALISM

Can it be that the senate that strove so industriously through the boiling noonday sun and by the uncertain glare of flickering torches at night to excavate a pit for Mr. Hoover have themselves fallen in? Did ever a message from an executive demonstrate with more certainty of force the lack of merit in a proposition than the president's veto of Muscle Shoals?

"I am firmly opposed to the government entering into any business, the major purpose of which is competition with our citizens," is the motif of the message. But the president does not stop at the declaration of a sound principle however seasoned or safely entrenched from long experience it may be, fearing perhaps in these experimental days of slipping away from the old anchors of safety, that a word of explanation might be of service.

"I hesitate to contemplate the future of our institutions, of our government and of our country if the preoccupation of its officials is to be no longer the promotion of justice and equal opportunity but is to be devoted to barter in the market. That is not liberalism, it is degeneration." What a confounding picture of disturbance and confusion, of agitation and disquiet, of endless broils and losses without end, the language depicts.

For if it is sound for the federal government to start out on such an enterprise, however much its proponents assert they will go no further, yet followed to its logical conclusion, it means the federal government in the store business, running bakeries, butcher shops, garages and farms.

But the president continues to show what federal control of operation of an industry would involve—"all the vicissitudes of national politics and the tyrannies of a remote control crowded upon the necks of a people helpless to extricate themselves from the hold of the octopus' tentacle; "the overriding of state and local government" would necessarily result in its entrance into a field belonging and reserved to the states. Mr. Hoover might have added that in another generation we might see a new political slogan: "Down with the Democratic party, its stores charge 47 cents for 3 cans of peas" and the Socialists could insist the government ought to cut prices on thick steaks as well as auto tires and make bottle openers free.

The one who cannot understand that the government must stay out of business, and particularly out of an industrial enterprise, — cannot understand that it is the people who support the government and not the government that supports the people.

Nor did Mr. Hoover leave the subject with a mere criticism of the proposed plan but instead carefully mapped out to congress and showed what it could do to get Muscle Shoals, "a war relic, out of politics and into the realm of service," a plan that congress will do well to follow unless stubbornness has so dulled its intellect or log-rolling so cluttered the channels of free opinion as to congeal legislative action. The president's plan would bring order out of chaos and put the control of the project right in the hands of the states it affects, the states that will get the benefit, if any, out of its operation but are quite content nevertheless to let the federal government pay the bills, hold the bag and yet get nothing out of it.

CONSISTENCY

What will the assembly do with the bill passed by the senate to limit highway speed to fifty miles per hour outside of cities and villages? What can it do and be consistent?

The other day the assembly repealed the "Blue Law" which had for seventy-five years not only prohibited but provided the infliction of a penalty upon on anyone who amused himself on the Sabbath. To throw a baseball or kick a football or cast a line with a hook on one end or look in at a movie has been a crime in Wisconsin, more accurately called a misdemeanor perhaps, since our grandfathers hid behind the barn to play mumble-the-peg.

Making this law conform to a practically universal custom among the people is sensible. But why fill its place with a law that the assembly knows is utterly unenforceable? Our present laws concerning the operation of motor vehicles are ample in this respect. They penalize a driver for going at unreasonable speeds considering the traffic and the prevailing conditions at the particular place. For all practical purposes it is impossible aside from pure guess-work to tell when a man is going 48 or 52 miles an hour. The law, if enacted, will be useless and merely add one more to the increasing number of futile laws.

NAMES OF PLACES

News that the town of Linoleumville, on Staten Island, New York, has voted to change its name to something less bizarre leads one to hope that Linoleumville isn't starting a movement that will become general. Some of our place names are very odd, and some of them probably bring a blush to the native son's cheek when he signs a hotel register; but most of them are descriptive, and it would be a mistake to change them.

To begin with, there is Main street. For some reason this name evokes great merriment in the metropolitan centers, as if it were intrinsically amusing. If you are really enlightened, you will never mention Main street without a sneer. But after all—what's wrong with Main street as a name? It is perfectly apt. The street that gets that name is, usually, a town's main street. Why not name it that way?

Besides, Main street has become distinctive. It is typical of this time and place. In its bluntness, its lack of affectation and its commonness, Main street is perhaps our foremost Americanism. It is worth hanging onto.

Then there are town names. Some of them automatically shed light on old, forgotten history. Bad Axe, in Michigan, for instance, is wonderfully expressive. So are Medicine Bow, Wyoming, and Placerville, in California, and Prairie du Chien, in Wisconsin, and Baton Rouge, in Louisiana.

There are smaller places, too, whose names have a refreshing strangeness. Such towns are Horse Thief, Ariz.; Black Bass, Ia.; Promptness, Pa.; Breezy Hill, Kan.; Defeated Creek, Ky.; Smoky Ordinary, Va.; Womble, N. C.; Good Water, Ala.; and Hahatomka, Mo.—would any sensible man, living in a town with such a name, consent to having it changed to something less outlandish? And what of Oskaloosa, Iowa, Kalamazoo, Mich. and Oshkosh, Wis.?

For all names of this sort really mean something. No self-conscious chamber of commerce has tried to prettify them or get an urban flavor into their rural connotation. If you dug back to the beginnings and got a description of each christening, you might have some good stories. That town of Horse Thief, for instance—doesn't it speak for itself? And wouldn't you like to know how Defeated Creek got its name?

The early geographers, in some cases had a veritable genius for nomenclature. Cape Cod could not have a better name; nor could Old Point Comfort, or the Golden Gate, or the Great Smoky Mountain chain, or the Enchanted Mesa, or the Staked Plains of Texas or Lake Minnetonka.

But those names, musical and romantic in their sound, are beside the point. The important thing is for these lesser places to keep their names. Let Linoleumville be the last to give up a picturesque title.

Today's Anniversary

CORREGGIO'S BIRTH

On March 5, 1494, Antonio Allegri Correggio, great Italian painter, was born at Correggio, a small town near Modena, from which the painter received his name.

He was the first among the moderns who displayed that grace, softness of effect and that combined excellence of design, color taste and expression in which he is still unsurpassed. His canvases are peculiarly impressive because of his wonderful treatment of light and shade, of which he was the greatest master among Italians.

Almost before he had seen the great masters, he became a master in style all his own. He was the founder of what is called by some the Parma school of painting.

His best works are prized as highly as those of the greatest masters and he is ranked with Michelangelo, Leonardo da Vinci, Raphael and Titian among the five most eminent painters of Italy. His "Holy Night," now in the Dresden Museum, is classed among the world's 12 greatest pictures.

WELL G'BYE folks . . . we've almost decided to leave . . . yeah, the blood of the old forty niner's runs in our veins . . . we gotta hitch up the flivver and strike out for Ontario . . . yep, they've struck gold up there at a place just south of Kishabowle . . . we have no idea what Kishabowle is like . . . but boop boop a doop, Kishabowle, here we come . . .

The Wisconsin state assembly spent no end of time discussing the Mooney-Billings incident and finally recommended to the governor of California that he pardon the two who have been in prison since 1916 on a bombing charge which was never quite proved.

A few people have objected on the grounds that it's none of our legislature's business. Let California take care of its own problems, they say.

What this heck, let our boys go ahead and fix up Florida, Texas, New Hampshire and the rest. Just think how few laws they'll be able to pass for your benefit this session!

But they'd probably call an extra session.

NOTED—a large and gushing leak in the eaves-trough over the rear entrance of an Appleton store which does a large business in selling and attaching that sort of stuff.

But a Motorcycle Always Wins

We hear that Appleton has added a flivver to the police department. That's all right. We can go just about as fast in ours. At least it'll be a tie.

Helen Hicks shot a 76 to qualify in the Florida east coast championship match 'other day. It's things like that which make men irritable.

A team from Fort Wayne, Indiana and one from Brooklyn, N. Y., will meet to determine the world's professional basketball championship. As far as sports are concerned, the world begins at the Atlantic coast and ends at the Mississippi river.

This isn't intentional repetition, but we just happened to hear a good one about Henry Ford. It seems that Henry has been down in Florida of late, and one day not long ago he visited a county fair on an island off the west coast of the peninsular state. Henry was served fish for dinner. Asked he, on becoming thirsty,

"Is there any water around here?" Said an acquaintance, "I don't know about that. You may have to take booze."

"I'd dig a well first!" says Henry snappily. So you see how he stands on THAT matter.

CONTRAST

Drama is everywhere about, With all its light and shade, Even where little children shout A scene is being played.

Conflict and contrast everywhere Are flashed before our eyes, A bride puts on her radiant fair, Next door a woman dies.

Into a doctor's waiting room A mother brought a child, And one who sat there in the gloom Looked at the babe and smiled.

"The little one's in pain," said he, "An earache," she replied; "Though last I came I'd like to be The first to pass inside."

"Quite so! Quite so! And gladly I My place will let you take, Like you I've often wondered why A baby's ear should ache."

"Outside there is a man," said she, "Who sensed my need was great, He knows what earaches mean, and he Seemed very glad to wait."

"That man," the doctor low replied, "Will very soon be dead." "What's wrong with him?" the woman cried. "Cancer," the doctor said.

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

CRYPTOPHOBIA STILL RAGING IN THE PROFESSION

Far from my good friend Dr. Webster and rather out of grace at the moment with the professor, whose neurasthenia I candidly poo-pooed, I can only take Dr. Alfred B. Olsen's word for it, that cryptophobia is abnormal fear of cold. Dr. Olsen is one of the associates of Dr. John M. Kellogg at Battle Creek, which sufficiently determines his standing. He complains that dread of cold air is still prevalent among civilized people. I submit that doctors are, civilized people.

Dr. Olsen points out that children, if not frightened and terrorized by their elders against cold, take to cold air and cold water baths as naturally as ducks to water. A healthy child, he avers, will stand and laugh while being doused with cold water. Children prefer cool to warm baths, and if not prevented will climb out of the bath and run and play "without drying and without taking cold (sic), a practice to be encouraged. On a winter day they will run out and play in the snow and rain without the usual "bundling up" at their parents' cape. Children that are allowed to enjoy direct contact with the fresh outdoor air and sunshine are usually free from colds (sic again) because their skin is functioning in a normal way. "But if a child goes near an open window (I'm here quoting Dr. Olsen verbatim) or attempts to go out, "unwrapped" in winter the mother or father calls it back in alarm saying, "Come in or you will catch your death of cold."

I submit that mothers and nurses who would fall to behave like that would not be carrying out the implied or actual instructions of the great majority of the best doctors and child specialists of our day. This cryptophobia prevails at least as widely in the medical profession as it does in any other class. I have encountered all kinds of ideas on the subject among physicians and specialists, and it is with no slight chagrin that I confess I would be in a quandary to point out for you a single good physician or pediatrician who is entirely in accord with me in the belief that exposure to cold or wet is quite harmless.

Plenty of good doctors concede that under some circumstances some individuals may not be endangered in health by such routine everyday exposure or carelessness if you prefer to call it so. But every colleague or competitor with whom I have had the pleasure of an argument about this clings to the traditional fancy that just such exposure may in some instances "lower resistance" or "increase susceptibility" to respiratory infections.

It is the duty to caution his patients about undue exposure to weather.

If any doctor of standing anywhere feels that I have slighted him in this sweeping characterization, I beg him to call me at once, and I will fall on his neck and shed tears of joy. Sometimes I feel so lonesome I could cry.

But until we members of the medical profession free our minds of the fear of cold and wet and revise our conventional caution about exposure to inclement weather, we cannot gracefully complain that mothers or nurses take this old tradition seriously.

Here it is fitting to reiterate: One's own physical comfort is the only thing to consider in regard to exposure to cold or wet, and only idiots need medical or parental guidance about that.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Distance Running

I am 24 years of age. I have been running for the last year and intend to keep it up. I ran in 4 and 5 mile races. Now I run 2 or 3 miles three times a week. 1. Is that too much? 2. Should I run all year or lay off a few months? 3. Does distance running help or harm one's system? (W. W.)

Answer—Keep it up. No lay-off. Two or three miles every day is not too much to keep in training. It is rather beneficial to one's system provided one lives within the laws of health otherwise.

Singers Seek Something Simple

I do not know where dithyrambs extirpation of tonsils can be of great service than in the case of singers. I have had a number of professional singers and by this method

I have been able to preserve the normal anatomy, which is so important for voice projection. Indeed several of these patients believe the treatment has enriched the quality of the voice. (Dr. B. B.)

Answer—Thank you, Doctor. I believe this is the only method of treatment for enlarged or infected tonsils for singers. Even a guy who can't sing at all, like myself, would have dithyrambs in preference to the snare or gullotine. (Copyright John F. Dille Co.)

The Tynmites

By Hal Cochran

THEY left the papaw grove and then walked right back into town again. The Travel Man said, "I think we had best be on our way. We've seen enough of this fine town and are the brilliant sun goes down, I'd like to move to some place else. There is no need to stay."

"All right," replied the Tynmites. "We're always glad to see new sights. Just how far is the next town and are we to walk or ride?" Then Clowdy added, "For my part I'd like to hire a horse and cart. We've always found it heaps of fun, whenever that's been tried."

"You win!" replied the Travel Man. "I guess, by riding, that we can reach some new town before the dawn. Wait here. I'll get the cart." The cart was hired and with a grin, the Travel Man cried, "Hop right in! I love to ride by twilight and it's the time that we depart."

The journey out across the land was picturesque and very grand. The Tynmites all took turns at driving a wink of snooze. "Then Scotty sat up straight and said, "Oh, gosh, how pretty just ahead. I love the scenery by night, even though some sleep I lose."

When morning came, with all awake, one Tyny said, "For goodness sake! A town is just ahead of us. We're playing into luck."

"Why, that's Johannesburg, my son," the Travel Man replied. "What fun we're going to have! Real shortly, 'cause we're going to find our truck."

And soon the truck they'd had before was brought to view and what is more, it had been washed and polished nice. "It seems," weec Scotty cried, "that we have found a long lost friend. On this old truck we can depend. Let's hop right in and tour around. I'd like a little ride." (Copyright, 1931, NEA Service, Inc.)

BETTER A WIFE WITH BRAINS, YOUNG MAN

London—It is the folly of many a young man that he selects a wife who can cook and tidy up the house, and who will look on him as her superior, instead of choosing a wife with brains, according to Dr. George A. Dorsey, scientist and psychologist.

Many a marriage would be more successful if the young man had selected as his wife a girl who could equal his intelligence and who could talk to him interestingly and give him a lift in difficult business matters once in a while, according to the authority.

"The brainless wife is liable to drag a man down because she leans on him too heavily," Dr. Dorsey remarks. "She cannot manage the house properly; she constantly wants her husband's attention; trivial things make her whine; or give way to tears; she has no comprehension of her responsibilities. When her husband is discouraged or worried, she doesn't know how to help. It takes brains to do that."

Seen And Heard In New York

Panic corner is not the intersection of Board and Wall streets, where the stock exchange is, but the intersection of Broadway and Forty-seventh street, where traffic swirls most madly for the trepid pedestrian.

Here at the upper end of Times square a continuous rush of taxicabs blocks terrified foot-travelers. Even when the green light supposedly gives right of way lines of motor cars making right and left turns defy the corner crowds to pass across.

Jaywalking on this corner would be a pretty sure way of committing suicide.

Rare Book Market

Jascha Heffetz, the fiddler, has about given up his hobby of book collecting. No addition has been made to his library of first editions in more than a year.

That's because cheap rarities find books are extremely hard to find nowadays.

"It has become too difficult to pick up bargains," Heffetz said. "Too many people have learned the value of old books. They can get wise when Jerome Kern's collection was sold at a profit of several hundred thousand dollars."

Yet a "Thousand Dollar" book shop has been opened by Barbara Barnes, a society girl, in co-partnership with William Nichols, an Englishman. The idea is to specialize in volumes costing $1,000, or what a racketeer would call "a grand."

The book shop has just enough glamour with potted plants and old chairs, to make it look like one of those little tea-shops book haunts of the intellectuals in London's Chelsea.

Most book collectors, Miss Barnes said, are men. Women do not collect for the love of it, she added, but run to modern first editions and things in sets which look well on the library shelves. They never have had much use for old books and now seem to have less than they ever did.

"I think," she remarked, "they're antiquated to death."

Why we spend $2,000,000 to put CAMEL cigarettes in the new HUMIDOR PACK

WE have been in the tobacco business a long time down here at Winston-Salem and we take a lot of pride in the quality of the cigarettes we make.

While we have spent a good many million dollars advertising Camels, we've always held to the old fashioned idea that the thing that really counts is what we put into our cigarette and not what we say about it.

If we know anything about tobacco, and we think we do, Camels contain the choicest Turkish and the mellowest, ripest domestic leaves that money can buy.

In fact we have every reason to be proud of the quality of Camels as they come from the factory, but the remark of an old friend of ours from Denver some time ago emphasized a point that has been the problem of the cigarette industry for years.

As he inhaled the smoke from a Camel we gave him in our offices one morning, he sighed with very evident enjoyment and then asked jokingly, "What is this, a special blend reserved for Camel executives?"

"Certainly not," we told him. "This package of Camels was bought at the corner store this morning."

"Well," he said, "I've been a dyed in the wool Camel smoker for a good many years, but upon my soul I never got a cigarette as good as this in Denver. If you would give the rest of the world the kind of Camels you sell here in Winston-Salem, you ought to have all the cigarette business there is."

THAT statement simply emphasized again the cigarette industry's most important problem. The more we thought about it, the surer we were that he was dead right, and that somehow, something must be done.

Denver wasn't getting a fair break. Neither in fact was any other town. The only people who really knew how good Camels could be, were the folks right here in Winston-Salem.

That was due to a factor no cigarette manufacturer had ever been able to control.

Naturally there is no difference whatever in the quality of the tobacco in Camels, whether you buy them in Winston-Salem, Denver or Timbuctoo. But up to now there has been a very real difference in the condition of the cigarettes by the time they reached the smoker.

The flavor and mildness of fine tobacco depend upon the retention of its natural, not added, moisture content which is prime at about ten per cent.

In spite of our great pains always to make sure Camels left the factory with just the right amount of natural moisture, no cigarette package had ever yet been designed that could prevent that precious moisture from drying out.

THERE are three things about a cigarette that can sting the tongue and unkindly burn the throat.

- (1) Cheap tobaccos.
- (2) Particles of peppery dust left in the tobacco because of inefficient cleaning methods.
- (3) A parched dry condition of the tobacco due to loss of natural moisture by overheating or evaporation.

Always certain of the quality of our tobaccos we had already made Camel a "dustless" cigarette by the use of a specially designed vacuum cleaning apparatus exclusive with our factory.

Now, if we could perfect a package that would actually act as a humidior and retain the natural moisture content, then Yuma, Arizona, could enjoy Camels as much as we do here at Winston-Salem.

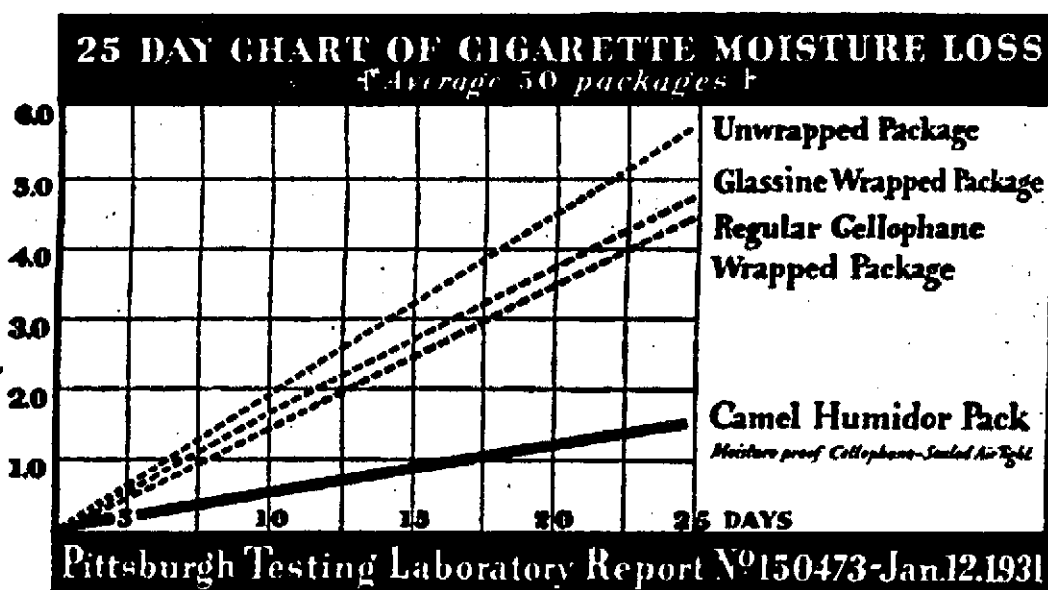

We knew what we wanted. We tried many things. We asked the Pittsburgh Testing Laboratory to help us.

After many experiments and humidity tests covering all methods of packing cigarettes came the detailed report of which this is the net:

- (A) No existing cigarette package, including those wrapped in glassine paper or ordinary cellophane, gives anything like adequate protection against evaporation.
- (B) All cigarettes so packed tend to dry out rapidly from the day they are released from the factory.
- (C) Only a waterproof material with a specially devised air-tight seal could give the desired protection. (D) This measure, while costly, could be relied on to keep Camels in prime condition for at least three months in any climate.

If you have a technical bent, the graph below made by the Pittsburgh Testing Laboratory will show you the exact results of their exhaustive study.

Pittsburgh Testing Laboratory chart above graphically shows you that only the Camel Humidor Pack delivers cigarettes to you in prime condition

YOU may be sure we gave this report a lot of careful study. We checked it and re-checked it and then we went ahead. We tried this device and that. At last we met success. The air-tight wrapping involved the designing of special processes, special machines.

That costs a lot of money, more than $2,000,000 the first year, but after you have tried Camels packed this modern new way we are sure you will agree it is a fine investment.

For some time now every Camel that has left our factory has gone out in this new Humidor Pack.

We have said nothing about it until now, to make sure your dealer would be able to supply you when the good news came out.

Camel smokers of course have already discovered that their favorite cigarette is better and milder now than ever before.

If you aren't a Camel smoker, try them just to see what a difference there really is between harsh, dried out tobacco and a properly conditioned cigarette.

You can feel the difference, you can hear the difference and you certainly can taste the difference.

Of course we're prejudiced.

We always have believed that Camel is the world's best cigarette.

Now we know it.

Just treat yourself to Camels in the new Humidor Pack and see if you don't agree.

Several novelty dances are being arranged and Tom Temple's orchestra will provide the music. A large attendance is expected as the party is for all persons with Masonic affiliations and their guests.

Eagles Will Hold Drive For Members

ARRANGEMENTS were made at the meeting of Fraternal Order of Eagles Wednesday night at the hall to call a meeting of members of the lodge in Little Chute, Combined Locks, and Kimberly at LaMers hall, Little Chute, next Monday night, as a part of an intensive membership drive in that locality.

Joseph F. Fitzpatrick, Kansas City, Mo., grand area representative of the organization department, who is spending about two weeks in Appleton to assist the local effort in bringing to a close the membership drive, will be present and speak.

Other speakers at this meeting will be Fred Bachman, A. G. Koch, Judge Theodore Berg, Abe Sigman, and Judge F. V. Heilmann. Joseph Doerfler, Leo Louder, and Charles Nagreen will present a miscellaneous musical program, and Robert Connelly and J. Martin Van Rooy will sing several selections. A lunch will be served.

Mr. Fitzpatrick was present at the meeting Wednesday night and gave a talk on organization. Otto Tilly reported on the Memorial service which will be held Sunday at Trinity English Lutheran church for members and their families. Members will meet at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon at Eagle hall and march to the church.

Four candidates were voted on and five were obligated at this time. The Marching club met after the aerie meeting and officers were elected. They are Walter Shepard, president, and George Magnus, secretary. Carl A. Gerlach, Aaron Deeg, and Webster Schlabe were appointed to choose uniforms. The club will meet Thursday night with the drum corps to plan for financing the groups.

Fifteen tables of cards and dice were in play at the Visiting Day party of Ladies Auxiliary of Eagles Wednesday afternoon at Eagle hall. Prizes at schafkopf were won by Mrs. H. Poppe, Mrs. Julia Barret, and Mrs. Mary Rademacher, and at dice by Mrs. B. Fowler and Mrs. Helen Scher. The committee in charge included Mrs. Clara Yols, Mrs. Gladys Koerner, Mrs. Irene Koester, and Mrs. Anna Doerfler. There will be a business meeting next Wednesday.

MAESCH WILL PLAY TWILIGHT ORGAN RECITAL

The ninth of a series of 16 twilight organ recitals will be given by LaVahn Maesch of Lawrence Conservatory at the Congregational church at 4:30 Friday afternoon. He will play the suite, "The Enchanted Isle" by Shure, which is divided into four parts, "The Angels Grotto," "The Pilot Glig," "The Sea Fan," and "Cathedral Cliffs." The sections of the suite graphically portray the wind blowing through the grottoes, the cascading breezes, the lazy rolling back and forth of the purple sea fan, one of the loveliest growths in the submarine gardens, in dark green water, and the pounding of waves on the cliffs, which sometimes sounds like the chiming of a cathedral tower.

Mr. Maesch will also play Rossini's Overture to William Tell, the choral prelude, "Christ Came to Jordan" by Bach, and the prelude to Act III, "Lohengrin" by Wagner.

Learn About Child Before Adopting It

BY ENGELO PATRI

The homeless child and the childless home should form some kind of alliance helpful to both. There is nothing so pitiful as a dreary place and a void. The two must meet.

Choosing the child is difficult. All is difficult. All babies are about the same as far as looks go except in the eyes of their mothers. One can tell nothing about a baby except that it is well formed and looks all right. That may mean something, it may mean something else. How is one to know? One cannot know.

There is nothing certain about childhood, any more than there is about any other stage of life. The only certainty we have discovered is that the child will develop some good characteristics and some that are not so good. The degree of the development is hidden, and so too, is the kind.

It is well to look well into the history of the families from which the child has sprung. If that history discloses characteristics that your family shun, it is just as well that you shun that child and find one whose family is in closer accord with your own. When you adopt a child you adopt its religion, its traditions, its social development, and its complex personality. If you are one that can bet only on a sure thing, never adopt a baby.

After you have adopted the child understanding that you have taken him for better, for worse, until death. Nothing is more unfair to a child than to be sent back to an institution after having been adopted into a family. That experience leaves scars that none is justified in inflicting. Consider well your bargain and then whatever comes hold by it.

Be prepared for developments that trouble you. We instinctively dislike any expression of tastes and qualities not our own. It takes affectionate tolerance to accept some of them without bitter protest. I have known foster parents to work themselves into a nervous state unfitted them for work because their adopted child liked sugar on her vegetables and their family never, never.

Another crisis occurs very often when an adopted child tells a lie, or pilfers, or does any of the unpleasant things everybody's children always do. Immediately the foster parents are up in fright. "Is he going to be a thief?" "Is she going to be a liar?" Maybe yes, maybe no. But the same might be said about any child some time in its career. Why lose one's head in this situation and tremble because of what you might have brought upon your family. Your own might just as well have brought it. Keep calm and keep teaching and trusting and hoping just as every other father and mother do.

Adopted children are like all other children as far as children can be alike. No better, no worse. Investigate their heredity, satisfying yourself it is of the sort that you can endure, should it develop along the family lines, and then go ahead. And let the child know early in the process that he is adopted — and that he is adopted for good and all.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, inclosing stamped addressed envelope for reply.

MY NEIGHBOR SAYS—

To frost a cake so that frosting will remain only on top of cake, double a piece of stiff paper and pin closely about the cake, extending one inch above top of cake. Don't remove paper until icing is set.

To fry bacon cut long strips in halves, place in frying pan while cold, set over fire and turn constantly until crisp.

Four or five whole cloves and a teaspoon of sugar added to a quart of prunes while soaking gives them a delicious flavor. Cook prunes in same water as they are soaked in.

Fat in which fish is fried will not retain the fish flavor if fish is well egged and crumbed before putting into fat to fry.

Plan your menus to contain the lighter foods for the Spring season. Fresh vegetables, greens, fruits and berries should be bountifully used in the diets.

Dresses That Display Fashion Elegance for EASTER!

The Story of Sue

by MARGERY HALE
© 1929 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

THERE was something vaguely familiar about the beaming figure who signaled the taxi. Sue couldn't quite sense what it was. He was slim, not very tall and rather arrogant at the same time that he tried to appear inconspicuous.

He gave an address at the other side of the town, in a guttural voice.

"Since when did they start women taxicab drivers?" he asked.

"Just lately," Sue answered.

"Sort of a novelty."

The taxicab bumped along the streets. Once Sue drew up for a traffic light and noticed that Jack's car was next to hers. She wanted to say something but she didn't dare. The figure in the back seat leaned forward.

"Don't let that car get away. Keep it in sight. I'll pay well."

Keep it in sight. In . . . sight! Those words echoed through Sue's mind. She had been hired to follow Jack. Some guiding spirit must have made her accept Corinne's suggestion and drive the cab.

"All right," she answered briefly. Jack, she guessed, was on his way to his club. She meant to call him there at her first chance and tell him what she was doing.

She kept behind his car as it rolled away from traffic, up the avenue, and stopped in front of the wide-sweep of lawn, which surrounded the old brownstone house which held the club. Jack glanced back once or twice, and Sue had a guilty sense that he knew he was being followed. As he left he noticed the taxicab, passing his own car, and called. Startled at the unexpected signal Sue stalled her engine.

"Hurry, hurry, don't be a darn fool! Get out of here!" The passenger urged her.

Sue tried to start but she flooded her engine. She did frantic things but the car stood still. At last it bounced under her hands and headed down the street.

"That comes from letting girls drive taxicabs. Wait until I make a report," the voice in the back seat said.

Sue knew that Jack had swung himself into his own car, and was coming after them. And some instinct warned her that that was the very thing that she should do. She wanted him to do. She had to elude Jack, get away somewhere, put him on another track.

"Don't go too fast," the passenger warned. Sue knew that this was done for a purpose. "Let him catch up if he wants to."

But Sue had no intention of doing that. She answered, "All right," briefly, but she threw the car into high and raced. There was a traffic light which she could make but which the pursuing car would miss. That would leave Jack behind.

"You fool, why did you do that?" the voice asked when she had cleared the light.

Sue decided to face issues. "Did you want him to follow you?" she asked.

"No!" the man had evidently changed his mind. "Let's get rid of him. Now play high and dry."

"Who was he?" Sue knew she would be reprimanded for inquisitiveness but she wanted to get an answer.

"Oh . . . bootlegger of mine, that's all."

Sue had to tip Jack off. But how?

NEXT: A blowout.

It's a favorite in Paris with the growing girl of 8, 10, 12 and 14 years whose clothes resemble the elder mode both in line and in fabric.

SPRING SOAPS ARE SCENTED AND COLORED

BY ALICIA HART

Taking a spring inventory of your beauty includes, first of all, thorough daily cleansing of the body.

You houseclean with a vengeance the minute the fog end of winter blows aside and spring flowers appear. Why should not you scrub yourself up in the same manner and with the same vim?

The soaps that you use for said scrubbing are always interesting. Individual taste in soaps is perhaps even more diversified than in perfumes or make-up. Sometimes you were brought up on a disinfectant soap and don't feel clean unless you use it. Sometimes you still cherish a childish desire for some faintly scented soap the grown-ups used to use but didn't let you get at. More often, the use of excellent soap, the insistence upon a given type is the result of a gradual self-education.

Women, I believe, are less likely to change their soaps than any other toilet articles.

The new spring soaps that are positively seductive in the delicate pastel coloring and their elusive scent include among them some of the blandest, the most perfect soaps for various kinds of water. Some new American-made soaps have achieved the characteristics of fineness, long-life and velvety smoothness of French soaps, which have long been famous.

The new perfumed soaps include narcissus, jasmine and good, old-fashioned lavender. If you still prefer, and many fastidious women do, the pure Castile soaps, there is a new one out with a slight aroma, a delicate, elusive cologne smell.

New shapes in soaps are quite as enticing as colors and smells. There is an increasing tendency to smaller cakes, shaped so you can grab a hold of them when they're brand new. I know at least one perfectly groomed woman, however, who can never be persuaded to use any soap but huge squares of pure Castile that she can't begin to hang on to.

If you mean to go into this spring personal scrubbing business with a vengeance, and have a little money to spend, you will get great pleasure and a terrific lift from one of those imported tubs of fine toilet soap that float up the water like a boat. It may be just your child's love of play. But it is a good investment, psychologically.

WE WOMEN

By Virginia Vane

R. M.: You've got to reconcile yourself to the fact that some men simply don't want to marry and that your first love affair unfortunately concerned itself with one of them.

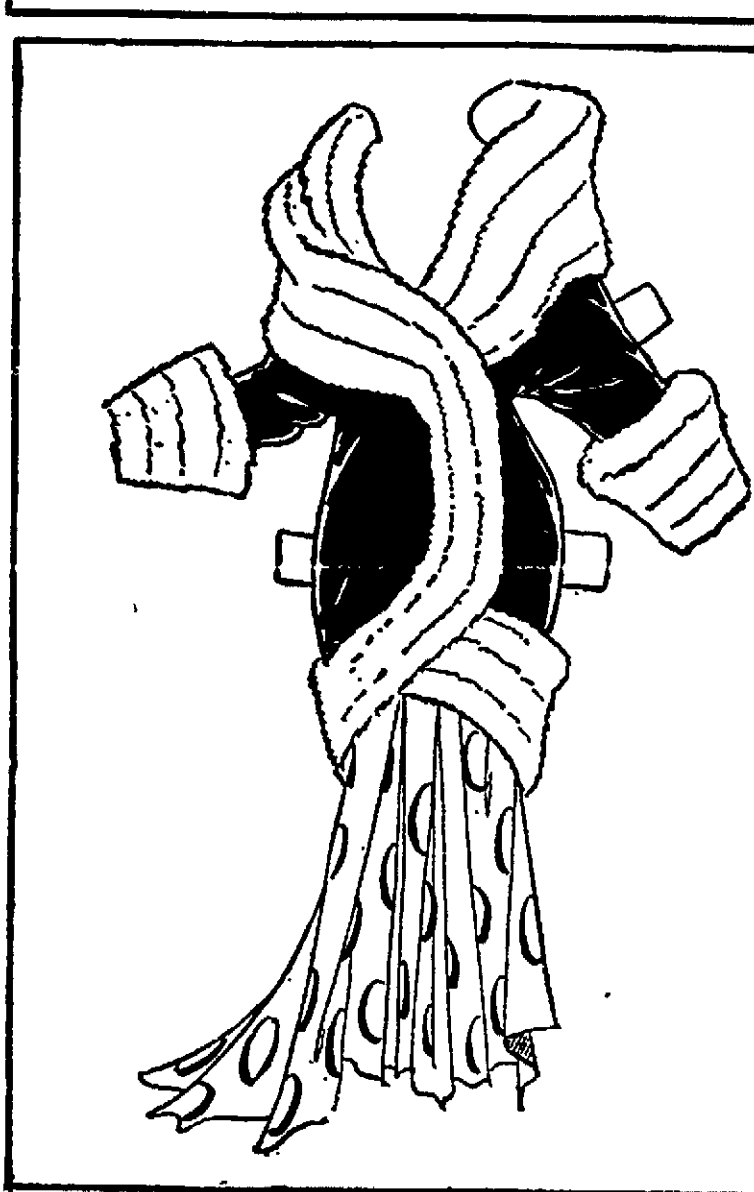

You needn't get an inferiority complex over the fact that he threw you down. He would have thrown any girl down.

His whole attitude showed that he thought primarily of himself and that you never could and never would be anything but second in his life. First of all, he asked you about three thousand questions—as to what your qualifications for a good wife might be.

Now no man who wasn't all wrapped up in the idea of his own comfort and well-being would have the nerve to question the girl he loved about whether she could cook, how much work she was prepared to do, how much of an allowance she would expect a week. Certainly not. The man who wants to get married tries to make matrimony sound like an attractive proposition, not like a difficult job under an exacting taskmaster.

Then the ardent suitor began laying down laws. He told you ex-

Can't You Imagine "Boots" Wearing This Wrap?

This evening wrap is just what "Boots" needed to wear to her next dance date. Don't you think she is sure to be the belle of any party at which she appears in this costume? If you save all the dresses in this series of cut-outs you will have "Boots'" entire spring wardrobe. "Boots" is a favorite everywhere. You can see her daily in the comic strip, "Boots and Her Buddies."

actly how he expected to live should he find marriage with you at all possible. And you, like a nice little girl answered bravely that you'd do your best to be worthy of him—that you'd promise to be neat and tidy and inconspicuous so as not to worry him—when as matter of fact you should have given him his conge and there.

No my dear, the very-much-in-love man doesn't talk as your late lamented sweetheart did, and you can thank your stars that he never saw his way clear to offer you his hand in marriage. You would have had one awful time. Your life would have been a series of apologies to him for having accepted him.

His attitude was all wrong. It showed the settled finicky bachelor to the life, and a girl of your age could never live happily ever after with a man of that type. It would be an older woman full of maternal instincts and patience and womanly tenderness to get along with an exacting creature like that, and you're well out of the whole affair even though for the moment your pride is desperately hurt.

T. G.: Perhaps you were awfully clever this time and got away with your neat little flirtation but you're not going to get away from the ultimate penalty which these married flirtations bring on.

You can't be happy with your good husband if you're constantly looking for admiration from other men. You can't be peaceful and contented in the knowledge of his love if you're constantly waiting to be thrilled by attentions from other women's husbands. In short you make eternal trouble for yourself when you begin to look outside of your own home for a new kind of love.

Maybe you think you're a particularly happy and clever young wife because at present you're apparently having your cake and eating it too, but this state of affairs won't last. When you're less pretty and still restless and dissatisfied, you'll find it harder to be attractive to other men—and just about that time it may occur to you that your own husband is not such a bad fellow after all. And when you look around for your own husband you may find that he's grown tired of being the husband of everybody's sweetheart, and has found himself a more sympathetic shoulder to weep on.

No don't make any mistake about it. We can all work these cute little tricks when we're young and pretty. But we can't stave off the penalty for them in later life, no matter how hard we try. So don't be foolish enough to go any further with your madcap career. Be a sensible girl and enjoy a sensible one-track sort of happiness. That leads after all to the really happy ending.

FEDERAL RESERVE BODY REPORTS ON U. S. GOLD

Washington—(AP)—The Federal Reserve board, submitting its annual report to congress Wednesday, said the stock of monetary gold in the United States increased $310,000,000 last year.

This was only $100,000,000 less than the peak increase of 1927. While that movement came mostly from Europe, the latest influx was from Japan, China, and Latin America. From the latter quarter and from Australia gold shifted also to England.

"In general, the movement of gold was one from outlying countries producing raw materials to the financial centers and bore no relation to differentials in money rates," the report said. "The difficulties in which the outlying countries found themselves reflected chiefly a decline in the value of many of their most important commodity exports, as well as the effects of a long period of conditions in the United States unfavorable to the flotation of foreign bonds."

Do You Buy Shoes Like Aunt Susan?

If you don't know Aunt Susan, you know someone just like her.

Aunt Susan's mother wore cheap shoes. So did Susan's grandmother. So did Aunt Susan. Aunt Susan used to be mighty proud of her feet before bunions and knarled toes and the ache and pains came — they were hereditary, she reasoned, for mother and grandmother had them. But Aunt Susan knows better now. For just recently we scientifically fitted a pair of correctly designed shoes on her feet and she realizes now she would have been a lot better off had she investigated why one shoe is priced $2.95, another $4, another $7.50, and another $10.

But the family habit was in Aunt Susan's blood — and Aunt Susan was not strong enough to overcome it. So now she dreams of the gold feet she might have had.

A lot of people are in the same rut Aunt Susan was in—and they'll probably be fairly content with their shoes until their feet are ruined and they learn what's been going on in advanced shoe building and scientific foot fitting these last few years.

NEED BUILDING FOR COMMUNITY AFFAIRS, CLAIM

Project Should Be Carried to Completion at Once, Says Marten

Neenah—The need for a community building and for a theatre was stressed at the March session of the city council Wednesday evening by Alderman Robert Marten. A community building should take precedence to a fire station, he alleged. It was pointed out that the present Roosevelt gymnasium, at the time it was erected, was intended for a community gathering place as well as a gymnasium. The building, however, was turned over to the school board, and it has been used only as a school gymnasium, he said. It also was pointed out that Neenah, with its handsome community building, has entertained Neenah residents there for a long time, but Neenah should not impose upon its neighbors, he advised. Mayor George Sande stated he had taken the matter up with the school board in an effort to secure use of the building several nights each week as a gathering place for the young people.

Division of the first ward into two voting precincts has necessitated another election board of five members. Mayor Sande appointed E. Meyer, Joseph Rausch, Charles Nelson, E. C. Arneimann and W. H. Hinderthaler to the board. The election board will have charge of election work in the first precinct, located east of Oak-st., while the old board will act in precinct No. 2 or that part of the ward west of Oak-st.

An appropriation of $500 was approved for the purchase of a toxin-antitoxin by the health board. It was estimated that the supply will last for care of 700 children. The city will be re-imposed. The request was made by Mrs. W. Z. Stuart upon recommendation of the board of health, of which she is a member. Monthly reports of the poor commissioner showed an expenditure of $1,117.56, of which $690.44 was for city charges. The police department and the justices reports also were presented and referred to John O'Leary, city attorney.

Bills amounting to $327,692.99, of which $10,000 was for state tax, $5,000 for work completed by C. R. Meyer and Sons, and $12,000 for street lights, were allowed. The mayor and all aldermen except Aylward were present.

Bandit Gets $70 Cash At Gas Station

Operator of Business Forced to Open Safe at Point of Gun

Neenah—When John Lisk, proprietor of the Standard Oil company filling station at the corner of S. Commercial-st. and W. Columbian-ave., backed out of his office to look up at 9 o'clock Wednesday night, a gun was shoved against him and he was ordered to reenter and open the safe. Then he was compelled to lie down on the floor while the bandit proceeded to empty the safe of its contents. Approximately $70, representing the day's cash, was taken. After emptying the safe, the bandit, a young man of about 20 years of age and dressed in overalls and a cap, forced Lisk into the lavatory, where he ordered the attendant to remain. Lisk came out as the bandit turned west in an automobile into W. Columbian-ave.

That the robber had been waiting for his chance to holdup the place was evidenced by tracks in the fresh snow behind a large billboard just west of the station, and tracks of the machine which had been parked near the billboard. The station is located almost across the road from the police station and the postoffice.

JUSTICE FOWLER TRACES HISTORY OF SUPREME COURT

Cases Are Reviewed, Not Tried There, He Tells Service Clubs

Neenah—The history of the Wisconsin Supreme Court was outlined Wednesday noon by Justice Chester A. Fowler at the weekly meeting of the Kiwanis club at Valley Inn. The Rotary club and Neenah club members were guests.

The speaker recalled the period when five or six circuit judges conducted the business of the court for about five years. Later a compromise was reached, and supreme judges were given separate supervision. In 1903 the number of judges was increased to seven, among them being Judge J. C. McKeown of Neenah. The justice with the longest service was selected as chief justice. This system is still carried on. Late rulings will not permit party affiliations on the ticket. The candidate must be non-partisan.

The work of the court was explained. Hearings are divided into groups and taken before the judges in rotation. Consequently each judge hears a different kind of case. One week is devoted to study of the case before him and for conference, and the remainder of the time is devoted to writing opinions and handing down decisions, all of which are so arranged that at the end of the year every case has been disposed of.

Cases are argued each day from 9 to noon and from 1:30 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

Don't Try Cases

"I have heard persons say, after a defeat in circuit court, that they would appeal to the Supreme court and have their case tried over again," Justice Fowler said. I might first say that the Supreme Court never tries cases, as the word trial is ordinarily understood. The trial of a case implies a determination of a fact by a jury. There is no jury in the Supreme court. That court does not hear or receive testimony. No witnesses are sworn before it. It does not determine facts, either from evidence introduced before it or upon the evidence taken in the court from which the appeal is taken. It is a court for correction of errors only. It merely reviews the record of the trial court and determines whether any errors occurred.

The trial court has the right to reverse or modify, or the judgment appealed from. If no error occurred there the judgment is affirmed and that is the end of the case. "Appeals go to the Supreme court from the circuit court, from nearly all county courts and from many municipal courts. I have heard a party, who was defeated in a state court, say he would carry his case to the Supreme court of the United States. This may not be done except there be involved a question arising under constitution or a statute or a treaty of the United States. This seldom occurs. Probably not one in four or five hundred is carried from the Supreme court of the state to the Supreme court of the United States. In 24 years upon the circuit bench, only three cases tried by me were taken to the Supreme court of the United States."

JOSEPH WITMER, Attorney for Estate, Feb. 25, March 5-12.

BADGER BRIEFS

Milwaukee—(P)—The inquest into the death of Joseph Paolo, alleged "hijacker" and small-time racketeer, today promised to be drawn out, authorities said, because of varying stories obtained from witnesses. Jack LaFredo, saloonkeeper, is held for the killing. He said he shot Paolo in self-defense after the former attempted to extort money for protection.

Fond du Lac—(P)—Authorities today said new developments might win freedom for Joseph Pepl, minor Chicago hoodlum, from a jail to await hearing on charges of participating in robbery of the Montclair bank last August. They said a man closely meeting descriptions both of Pepl and one of the alleged robbers was located in Milwaukee and would be quizzed concerning the holdup.

Cloudy and probably snow in east and south portion tonight and Friday; not much change in temperature.

General Weather

The low pressure area which was centered over the upper Missouri Valley yesterday has moved southward and now overlies New Mexico and northern Texas. It has caused moderate to moderate snow over the Missouri and Mississippi Valleys and upper lakes. Another low centered off the north Atlantic coast has caused moderate snow over the New England states. A rather strong high pressure area is moving in over the northwestern states, bringing fair weather and lower temperatures to the northern Rocky Mountain states. Unsettled weather, with probably snow, is expected in this section during the next 24 hours, with little change in temperature.

$110,400 IS UNCOLLECTED IN CITY TAXES

Collections for 1931 Totalled $1,120,672, According to Treasurer

Appleton real and personal property tax collections for 1931 totalled $1,120,672.72, leaving $110,400.06 still uncollected, according to an official check-up by Fred E. Bachman, city treasurer.

The highest real estate tax paid was $56,000, and the lowest was 38 cents.

At a meeting of the council last night, it was decided to eliminate the 2 per cent penalty on taxes paid before the tax roll is turned over to the county, about the middle of the month. Last week the council adopted a law enabling the taxpayer, now unable to pay his taxes, to file an affidavit with the city treasurer which will immunize him against the usual 2 per cent penalty and the 1 per cent a month fee charged by the county. This affidavit will protect the taxpayer until June 1, after which time property will be sold at tax sale according to the usual custom, with the usual charges. If the affidavit is not filed with the treasurer by March 15, the tax will be considered delinquent and will draw the usual penalties. By Thursday noon about 75 of these affidavits had been filed with the treasurer.

Part of the remaining $110,400 of the tax levy of $1,231,072, will be paid to the treasurer before March 15, and part of the uncollected personal property tax will be collected by the chief of police.

On Monday Mr. Bachman turned over $50,941.05 to the county treasurer. Of this amount $40,707.07 is regular state tax, and $10,234.01 goes toward the support of penal institutions.

Your Birthday

WHAT TOMORROW MEANS TO "PISCES"

If March 6th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:15 a. m. to noon, from 3 p. m. to 5 p. m. and from 9 p. m. to 10:30 p. m. The danger periods are from 1 p. m. to 2:15 p. m. and from 7 p. m. to 8:40 p. m.

The planetary aspects of March 6th indicate more favorable time for those of mature age than for the young and enthusiastic. To the former financial benefit and increased power and responsibility will be vouchsafed; to the latter, minor disappointments and slow progress.

Children born on this March 6th will always retain the spirits and disposition of their early days. They will lack in shrewdness, never take themselves seriously, and will have a keen sense of humor. They will be rather irresponsible, but always happy and contented.

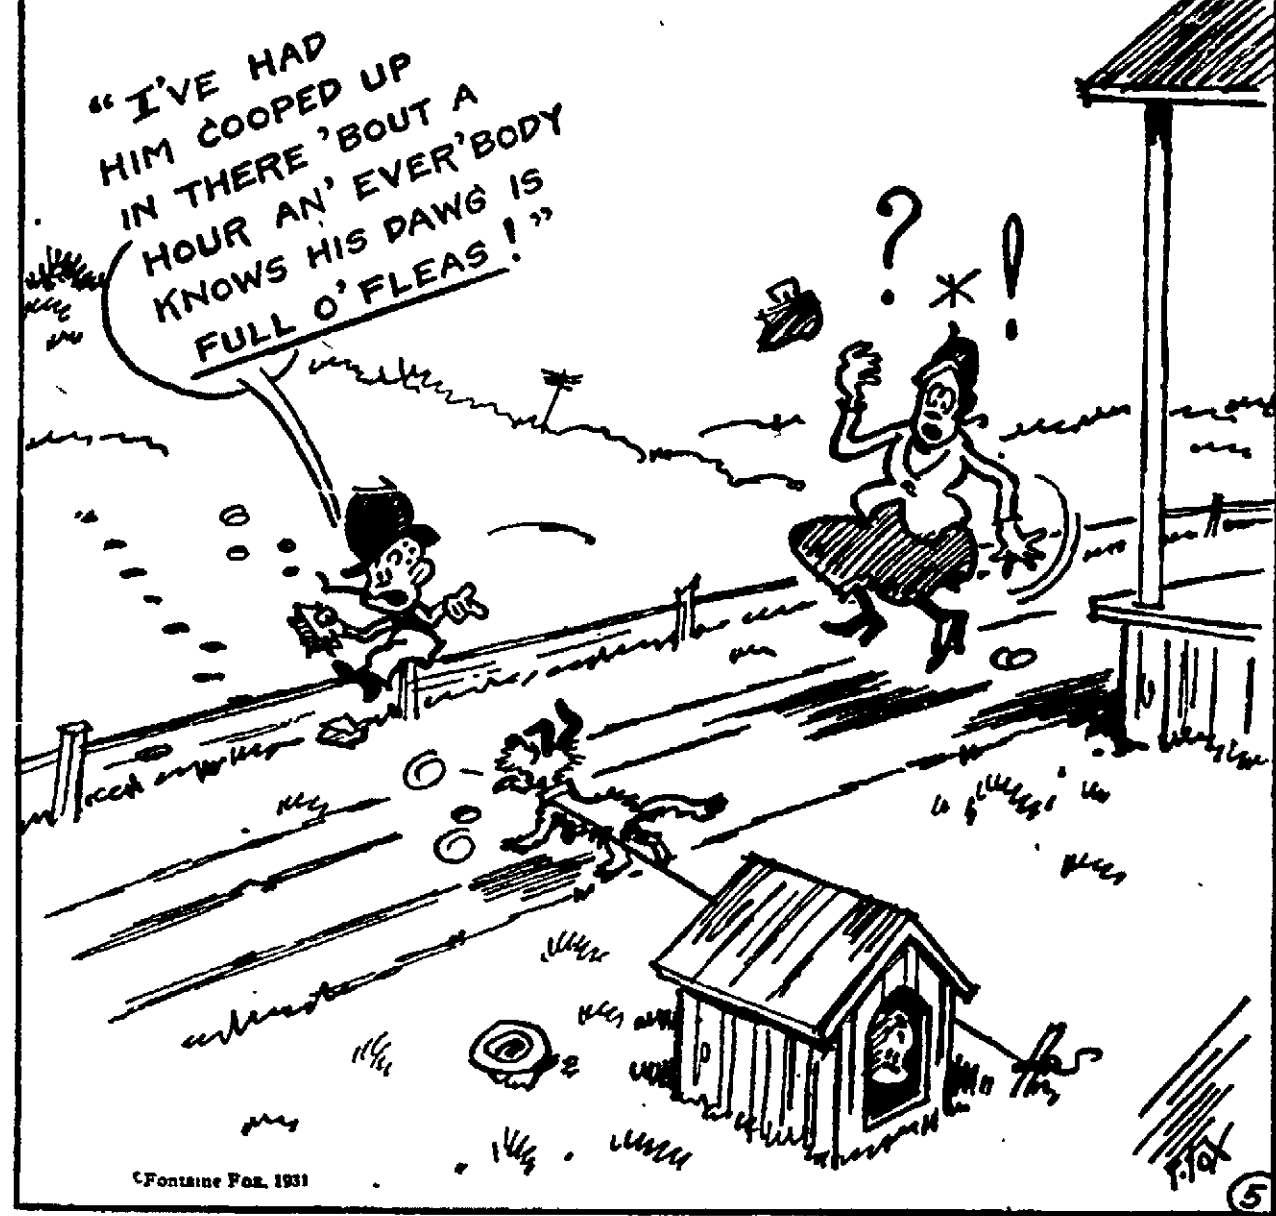

If you were born on March 6th, you are exceptionally intelligent. You realize your own limitations, and are never tempted to express an opinion on any subject or topic with which you are not thoroughly conversant. Your taciturnity is not a pose. It is your defense, and others, when you look wise and say nothing, credit you with more ability than you actually possess. Your air of reserve invites confidence, and, to a certain extent, you have succeeded in capitalizing on this.

You are a deep thinker, although you fail to give your thoughts words. You derive more pleasure from the role of an onlooker than you would if a participant. Your word, however, when given, is your bond. You make few promises, but always keep them. You are absolutely dependable, and people trust you implicitly. You work hard, and are rather indifferent to success, as measured by material rewards. Your chief delight is the glory of achievement. You can generally spot the weaknesses in any organization—be it a business or a home—and your "melter" is systematization, although you would hesitate to call yourself an expert along these lines.

In your home, you unbend, and your many good traits ensure you the respect, as well as the affection

That there are plans afoot for making a sunken garden out of the Superior-stump—already sunk 12 feet by the burning of the rubbish. Flights of fancy include grass, flower beds, fountains, benches, Peewee golf courses, and decorative parasols. It is thought that the garden might be maintained the year around as the burning rubbish would provide heat for the grass and flowers, and a canopy might be constructed to keep out the snow, if any.

That several aldermanic candidates in the spring race were endorsed at a recent subrosa political meeting. Attendees at the meeting, it is rumored, pledged themselves to promote the campaigns of one alderman in each ward.

That three or four women swimmers in the Y. M. C. A. pool on Wednesday can make more noise than a class of 15 or 20 youngsters. Women at the pool talk incessantly. It seems, while a large group of youngsters seem to get along very well with much less conversation. It's all right of course—if they can't swim without talking, but some day one of them is going to swallow a mouthful of water. So after all, this is just a warning.

That Merritt Bacon of this city, while fishing recently on Lake Poygan near Winneconne, pulled a three-pound black bass through the ice—a rare feat. It is seldom that one catches a bass that large in open water, fishermen point out. The big fish was returned to the waters to be or not to be caught by some other fisherman.

LAY NUCLEUS FOR ORGANIZATION OF OPTIMISTS' CLUB

New Service Group to Stress Work Among Boys, Officials Report

The nucleus of an Optimists club of Appleton was organized Wednesday evening at a dinner at Conway hotel sponsored by international and state officers of the organization, following a program of short talks by club officials, a local committee was appointed to arrange plans for organizing a permanent branch in this city.

Officials who outlined the objectives, purposes and merits of the club were R. J. Sutherland, Madison, international president; S. L. Wheeler, Milwaukee, president; David Onan, Minneapolis, Minn. district governor; Leo F. Nohl, Milwaukee, past international president; Harold Norman, Milwaukee, past president; George Morton, Milwaukee, past president; Bert Hall, Milwaukee, past director of the boys work club and Roy Nicholson, Milwaukee, song leader and composer.

One of the primary objectives of the organization is boys' work, it was pointed out. The club aims to reach those boys and girls who are underprivileged, unfortunate, and who are not within reach of other organized groups such as the Y. M. C. A. or Boy Scouts of America.

Illustrations of what has been achieved among such boys in Milwaukee, especially among the foreign group in the Third ward, were offered.

The entire club program was outlined in an address by Mr. Sutherland. He also outlined the international principles and aims, stating that development of fellowship, civic enterprise, boys work and creation of an optimistic philosophy are the main objectives.

The merits of a civic service club were explained by Mr. Wheeler. "The Optimist club is not working with a 'blind' program, but has outlined a schedule which is spreading like 'wildfire' from coast to coast," he stated.

The gospel of self control development in boys was the keynote of a short talk by Mr. Morton. He explained the methods employed in working with youngsters in Milwaukee, especially among those whom he said were somewhat hard boiled.

"Wonders have been worked in Milwaukee youths in the tough Third ward," he stated. "Leaders of juvenile gangs, with big city gang ideas, have been converted into self-respecting, self-controlled leaders in club activities."

Responses to addresses by the club officials were given by Herman

Heckert, Kenneth Corbett, Otto Mead, and several other Appleton men, who constitute the local committee.

The group plans to start the organization within the next week, and report to state officials of the club.

Trappers estimated at 15,000 have been engaged this season in the swamps of Louisiana.

BRITON URGES CLOSER TRADE LINK WITH U. S.

Sees No Need for Economic War Between Two
Greatest Nations

London—(AP)—There need be no trade between America and Britain, believes Sir Harry McGowan, chairman of the Imperial Chemical Industries, Ltd., Britain's largest industrial unit in the first statement he has made since he succeeded the late Lord Melchett, he sees the two nations as co-workers in the economic world and he looks to America to lead the way to recovery.

"There are many who still think that great industrial nations must necessarily be competitors in the sense that greater prosperity to the one must mean decreasing prosperity for the other," he said. "Nothing could be further from the truth."

"To both Britain and America world trade is an essential basis of full industrial activity. And this trade consists in the inter-change of goods and services, of loans, credits and investments."

"The well-being of the world depends upon the quantity of goods and services available for consumption. In turn, this rests upon efficiency of production which today is governed by working to full capacity with a maximum spread of overheads. These methods necessarily fail unless the distribution of these goods is made as easy as possible. Everything which hampers the freest interchange reduces the aggregate available for consumption. Within state boundaries these facts are recognized, but when nations deal with nations many of us are inclined to deny them."

"The more obstacles we interpose in the way of a free exchange of our products, especially when they are so complementary in the world's trade as the main products of the United States and the United Kingdom, the more we tend to defeat the ends we are all seeking."

"The United States has interpreted to us new ideals of peace, of disarmament, of liberty and the international control of disruptive factors. We here in England look to her to extend her influence to the wider economic field. Human happiness depends upon economic harmony. This can only come from cooperation inspired by leadership."

"The predominance of the United States, not only in her natural wealth of resources but in the large measure of control over the monetary factor which enjoys the through her banking mechanism founded upon her large gold reserves, not only accords to her the privilege, but in some measure lays upon her the task of taking the lead in the new cooperation which will be needed to lift us out of the slough of our present troubles."

Besides various other English interests Sir Harry is a director of General Motors in America and of International Nickel. His business interests have taken him to America 45 times.

400,000 CHINESE IN DANGER OF STARVING

Hong Kong—(AP)—Repatriation of more than 400,000 Chinese laborers from the straits settlements has created an unemployment situation in this city and Canton unparalleled in modern times. There is little between them and starvation.

Thrown out of work by slumps in tin and rubber on the Malay peninsula, these jobless Chinese were deported to their own country by the British authorities in Singapore.

The Cantonese government provided a few gunboats and a half dozen small merchant steamers.

About 90 per cent of the deported men on arrival here had only the few dollars given them when they left Singapore.

Perhaps you have every reason to be discouraged after trying all sorts of high-priced salves and lotions which failed to bring help to your pimply skin.

One thing's certain — you never used Peterson's Ointment because Peterson's is the one sure method that won't fail to eradicate the worst, most obstinate case of blemished skin.

One application — your pimples and blackheads start to go — in a couple of days eruptions have healed, your face is remarkably cleared! Continued use gives you a complexion utterly free from any irritation — delicately smooth — clear.

Mary Metinko of Rankin, Pa., writes: "Ever since I can remember I have had pimples on my face but after I got a box of Peterson's Ointment I found that it works like magic. I recommended it to all my friends."

Often times pimples entirely disappear in three days and one 35 cent box will prove it—All drugstores.

Appleton, Neenah Guard Activities Noted In Review

Appleton and Neenah companies in the Wisconsin National Guard, both units in the 127th Infantry, are described in the current issue of the Wisconsin National Guard Review. The Appleton unit is Co. D, a machine gun company, in command of Capt. Clyde P. Schroeder; the Neenah unit is Co. I, a rifle company, in command of Capt. Dan A. Harst.

Capt. Schroeder is author of an article telling how he endeavors to have men qualify in use of the machine gun, the organization rating highest in qualifications among infantry machine gun companies. The Review also notes that copies of the magazine have been placed in public and school libraries here, that a model squad plan on paper is being sponsored by the company, that the annual mess fund dance was held in January, that the company will have foot lockers for each man next summer when it leaves for the annual field camp of instruction.

That Sgt. Robert Currie is the best pistol shot among enlisted men in the state guards, that the organization qualified 45 men with the machine gun and 24 with the pistol the latter record being the best in the state, that Capt. Schroeder has been awarded a 15 year long service medal and that Capt. A. P. Lagorio, regular army instructor here has been training members of Appleton police department in use of the pistol, also is mentioned.

The Review carries a picture of Co. I, as the organization with the most men qualifying with the rifle and reports that Sgt. Ira Miller rates fourth highest in the state with the rifle with a 237 mark. The Neenah company qualified four experts, four sharpshooters and 21 marksmen out of 36 men armed with the rifle.

Neenah company also entered a team in competition for the honor of representing the state in the chief of militia's indoor rifle team match. The team winning the interstate match will be awarded the title "champion national guard indoor rifle team for 1931."

Members of the team are:

Supervising officer: 1st Lt. Fred J. Miller.

Team captain: Sgt. Andrew A. Anderson.

24 GAS WELLS ACTIVE IN "DOWN EAST" AREA

Ithaca, N. Y.—(AP)—Twenty-four gas wells, the biggest estimated to produce $20,000 daily, are blowing today in the old "down east" country and a new gas "rush" is on.

It is the trail of the pioneers reversed, the farthest east that a field of big wells yet has been located in this country. The development is concentrated in south central New York, and northeast Pennsylvania.

Three wells have come in in the last two weeks, the biggest on Feb. 18 with nearly 100,000 feet of gas a day.

More than 1,000,000 acres of farm lands have been leased at prices ranging from 25 cents to $10 an acre and $2,000,000 has been spent in a few months. These figures were gathered by the Corning, N. Y., Evening Leader.

REVOKE 43 DRIVERS' LICENSES LAST MONTH

Forty-three drivers had their licenses revoked during February, according to a report received at the police department from the secretary of state. Two of these drivers were from Outagamie-co. Sheboygan, Brown, Fond du Lac and Manitowish-was each had one revocation. The revocations ranged from three months to one year, with three months predominating.

Menasha And Kaukauna Fives Enter Neenah District Tournament

LAWS HUMBLE OMIRA, PAILS WALLOP OMRO

Menasha Victory Only One of 1931 Season; North Fondy Loses

MENASHA and Kaukauna high school basketball teams arrived in the elimination round of the district tournament entries Wednesday evening. The teams defeated Omira 21 and 18 and Pails crashed through to a 25 and 18 win over Omira.

The other game last night was between Plymouth and North Fondy. The teams were tied at 2-2 in the first quarter, 3-3 at the half and 4-4 at the third quarter with Plymouth winning in the final period.

Lomira Opens Scoring The game opened with a field goal for Lomira soon after the whistle opened play. Kemeter tossed another goal for Lomira and then Dix registered for Kaukauna. The quarter ended 7 and 2 for Lomira.

In the second quarter Kaukauna scored six points to two for the Lomira and then Dix registered for Kaukauna. The quarter ended 7 and 2 for Lomira.

Play was fast and hard in the fourth period and the Kaukauna won their efforts to win the game. Kemeter scored first for Lomira to make the count 18 and 14 but Paschaniuk tied the effort with two field goals and the score was tied 18-18.

Pails Wins First Game Menasha proved that he who laughs last laughs best when it won only game of the 1931 season from Omro, 25 and 18 and went in to the meet.

Lead by Asmus, a half pint forward who made high scores of the game, the Pails stepped out to an 8 and 4 lead in the first quarter. They liked the sensation so well they increased the count to 16 and 9 at the end of the half.

The third quarter saw the Pails continue piling up their marker and when the one minute halt was called they almost had the game sewed up with a 20 and 12 count. Asmus opened the fourth and last period with a goal and was followed by the Pails who made a free throw and Asmus clicked again, the game ending 25 and 15.

Ten Pin Keglers in the Elks Ladies league had a six game lead over the Bitter Sweets and Crackers, tied for second, after the week's maple smashing. The Pins retained their lead by taking two from the We Wonder team.

M. Ingenthron with 159, 163, 159—517 led the Ten Pins in their victories in the first and second games. The third game went by the boards when E. Wierck dropped to 99 and L. Dunn crashed through with a big 163 for the Wonder five. L. Dunn had 183, 177, 192—547 but here efforts failed in the fact of low scores by her mates.

MILLER CORDS WALLOP NICHOLS TEAM, 33-16

Led by Zeke Remmel with six field goals and two free throws, Miller Cord professional basketball team beat the Nichols City team at Seymour last night, 33 and 16. The Villagers offered little opposition to the Cords who led 11 and 2 at the quarter, 17 and 3 at the half and 27 and 11 at the third quarter. Although the Cords permitted the Villagers to shoot whenever they chose in the fourth period the Nichols team managed to count only five more points, Weyenberg, forward, played the best game for the losers.

CHICAGO PROS WILL CLASH AT WAUPACA

Bruins and Hottentots to Show at New Armory, Wednesday Night

Waupaca—Two of the best basketball teams in America will clash on the Waupaca Armory floor next Wednesday night, March 11, when the Chicago Bruins meet the Chicago Hottentots.

The Bruins are the world's champion professional organization and the Hottentots are the fastest colored team in the game. The negro quintet was viewed by many Waupaca fans when they played at Stevens Point some time ago and later at Iowa, where they met Al Seeger's Indians.

This will be the first time the Bruins and Hottentots have met although both have cleaned up everything in their class during the season just closing. Without exception, it is the highest class basketball talent ever assembled in central Wisconsin and indications point to a packed house.

Arrangements are being made now for a preliminary, although what teams will put on the opener has not been decided yet. With an admission price of only 50 cents and no reserved seats, it is probable that the S. E. O. sign will be hung out before the main event of the evening begins.

JOHNNY WEISMULLER AND ACTRESS MARRY

Miami Beach, Fla. —(P)—Johnny Weissmuller, star of many swimming events, and Bobby Arnet, star of the stage, were on their honeymoon here today.

The couple themselves announced their wedding, which had been kept secret. They said they were married by County Judge Fred Shipley at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., with George Murphy and Juel Johnson, of New York, as witnesses. Both gave their age as 28.

The couple plan to go to New York within a week when Weissmuller completes a contract at a local swimming pool.

JACK THOMPSON WINS FROM BABE ANDERSON

Oakland, Cal. —(P)—Young Jack Thompson, former welterweight champion, carrying the poundage of a middleweight opened his comeback campaign by knocking out Babe Anderson, San Jose, Cal., in the ninth round of a ten round bout here last night.

The Los Angeles Negro, signed for a title bout in Cleveland April 17 with Tommy Freeman, to whom he lost the championship, won handily, but his shoving failed to impress the crowd.

Carrying 151 pounds, Thompson was decidedly slow, both on his feet and in his punching, but experience carried him through easily against Anderson, a second rater.

ERNIE KATH, MILLER FIGHT ON PRO CARD

Two amateur boxers who fought in an Appleton ring some time ago and who since have turned pro are performing tonight on a pro fight card at Fond du Lac. The boys are Ernie Kath of Sheboygan and Chief Ira Miller of Neenah. The windup is between Johnny Lombardo, Milwaukee and "Battling" Hill, Chicago.

Detroit Outfield Will Be Stronger This Year

BY JOHN R. FOSTER Copyright, 1931

ACRAMENTO, CALIF.—(CPA)—Detroit has a pony-outfield that it will back against anything in the United States. It is a little early to tell what may happen but somebody by the name of Harris is going to smack his lips with pleasure every time that he looks at those young players and he is not going to part with them. They are tied to the Detroit club with ropes—no strings will do. The ponies are the Walkers and Doljack.

If these boys continue to maintain their pace they will be linked with Detroit by tradition and cleverness. It will be good old hempen rope that holds them and the affections of the Detroit fans.

Detroit did not do so well in the outfield in 1930. That was not a fact to be published freely because a manager will never give away the weaknesses of his own team, but it was a fact that haunted the brain of one of the cleverest thinkers in the baseball galaxy of managers.

CARNERA, MALONEY READY FOR BATTLE OF THE CRACKED RIB

Drop in Temperature Expected to Add to Difficulties of Promoter

Miami, Fla. —(P)—To the somewhat fantastic fistic history of this famous winter playground, the boys were prepared to add the 10 round battle of the cracked rib tonight, featuring the ponderous puncher from Italy, Primo Carnera, and the Irishman from Boston, Jimmy Maloney.

Miami and its ocean front neighbor, Miami Beach, have known the story of boxing for many years ago the Stripling-Sharkey bout drew over $400,000. The downward slide since then has been marked by the Sharkey-Scott fiasco, a losing venture of 1930, and the financial disaster attending the Walker-Risiko show a week ago in the Madison Square Garden stadium.

Carnera's return fight with Maloney has failed to stimulate either the local fistic pulse or the cash turnover from elsewhere.

Promoter Frank J. Bruen continues optimistic today in the hope he might at least break even. An unseasonable drop in temperature has chilled the prospects for tonight.

Primo will have upwards of a 65 pound pull in the weights, a doctor in his corner to treat his damaged ribs and instructions to try for an early knockout.

The preliminary card is headed by an eight round match between Maxie Rosenbloom of New York, lightweight champion, and Marty Gallagher of Washington, D. C. Rosenbloom's title is not at stake.

Promoter Bruen forbade ringside broadcasting and fixed the main go for about 10 P. M. (Eastern time).

PAT PAGE WILL COACH MAROON BASEBALL TEAM

Chicago —(P)—Harlan O. (Pat) Page has been named coach of the University of Chicago basketball team, succeeding Nelson Morgan. Page's appointment is in keeping with Director A. A. Staggs' policy of putting each of his first assistants in charge of a major sport.

Page coached the Maroon baseball club to a Big Ten championship in 1913. He was succeeded by Coach H. O. (Fritz) Crier, who went to Minnesota as athletic director last year. Morgan, who also coaches the basketball team, took over baseball after Crier left.

Hollywood, Calif. —(P)—High speed cameras which will follow the golf ball on its flight will be used in Bobby Jones' series of one reel motion pictures.

Experimental tests have revealed that with the short run shots, it will be possible to follow the ball from the time it is hit until it stops. The golf champion will start work Monday.

ORANGE DEFENSE IS CARRYING TEAM TO FOX LEAGUE TITLE

Has Allowed but 89 Points This Season; Offense Rates Fourth

With only two more games left on the schedule a review of the Appleton high school season reveals that the Orange defense rather than its offense is what is carrying the team along in the race for the bunting. The Orange leads the valley league with seven wins and one defeat.

Offensively the team still rates fourth in league competition, only 124 points having been scored by the boys. Defensively, the squad rates first with 89 points counted against it, a record that is more outstanding because the second team defensively has allowed 129 points.

The squad is Fond du Lac, West Green Bay, and Sheboygan follow with 130 points each.

Friday night, the Orange meets one of the latter organizations, Sheboygan, and will have a job on its hands eking out a win in the Chair defense is in a little better than usual form and if the Orange offense doesn't work better than in recent games.

In practically every game this season the offense has clicked but a few minutes a game, the weakness appearing to be one of cautiousness and failure to try to make breaks which might result in scores.

Valley conference individual scoring honors still are held by "Hoos" Boyle, Fond du Lac case ace. He has counted 28 field goals and 18 free throws to give his team 69 points.

Wegner of Oshkosh is second with McDonald, Oshkosh, only recently a regular player, third.

Appleton's high scorer is Bill Peetler, center, who has chalked up 14 field goals and 11 free throws for a total of 39 tallies. Mortell is next with 27 points, Verrier, 22, and Collins 21. The other players are down the list.

CARDINALS SUE FOR $5,000 BY RAY LAMB

Chicago —(P)—Ray Lamb, former Knox college football star, and now assistant grid coach at Oregon State university, has filed suit against the Chicago Cardinals of the National Professional league for $5,000, he claims is due him in back salary.

The suit was filed against the Cardinals and Chris O'Brien, former owner of the club. Lamb charges the money is due on his 1929 card contract.

MAJOR KENNEY QUILTS AS CARROLL MENTOR

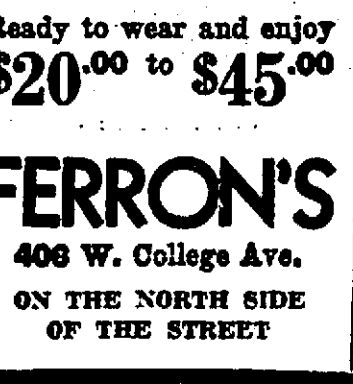

Waukesha —(P)—Announcement of the resignation of Coach Ralph C. Kenney, athletic director of Carroll college who coached Carroll basketball teams to two consecutive Big Four championships, today greeted college officials.

Kenney did not state his plans for the future. He became coach at the school in 1929. This season his team lost but one Big Four game.

TAIT LITTMAN GOES BACK TO RING WARS

Milwaukee —(P)—Tait Littman, Cudahy, whose boxing stock took a drop after his recent knockout from the gloves of Lou Scozza, tonight meets Harry Eubets, Brooklyn, in a scheduled round fight.

Littman, ranked among the first five boxers of his weight, before losing to Scozza is seeking to regain lost prestige. Promoters and managers said that if he wins tonight, he may have opportunity to go back to Madison Square Garden for an exhibition.

BIG TEN, NORTH CENTRAL GROUP READY FOR WAR

Western Conference Leaders Want to Handle Own Athletic Problems

BY CHARLES DUNKLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO—(AP)—Battle lines were being drawn in the Western conference today for a fight to the finish with the North-Central Association of Colleges and Secondary schools over the issues of athletic control in the Big Ten.

The issue flamed to a breaking point yesterday when Walter Dill Scott, president of Northwestern University, issued a call for the presidents of all the Big Ten universities, together with directors of athletics and faculty representatives, to meet in Chicago, within two weeks, to consider the Western conference relation to the North Central in regard to athletic control. This committee will number thirty-one, including Major John L. Griffith, commissioner of athletics in the Big Ten.

The North Central association, an organization in which practically every college and university between the Alleghenies and Rocky Mountains is a member, was organized to bring about uniformity in scholastic standards that affected transfer of credits of students migrating from one school to another.

Assumed Other Powers
Recently, however, the North Central assumed other powers, one of which was a ruling that universities should not sponsor any interscholastic track meets or basketball tournaments. Because of this, Amos Alonzo Stagg was forced to give up the national interscholastic basketball tournament conducted by the University of Chicago, which, in former years, had attracted teams from almost every state in the union.

Then the North Central began athletic investigation of five Big Ten universities—Chicago, Minnesota, Illinois, Ohio State and Northwestern. President Scott of Northwestern, learning of the visit of the paid investigators of the north central association, called the meeting.

Whether the interference of the North Central in the Big Ten affairs will cause a rupture between the two organizations which might result in the Big Ten withdrawal from the North Central remains to be determined until the conference committee of thirty-one meets to decide on its policy.

Major Griffith pointed out today that the North Central association, in attempting to supersede the authority of the Western conference in its internal athletic problems, was inconsistent.

"Must Be Settled"
"The situation must be settled at the meeting of university presidents," Major Griffith said. "The Western conference is stronger today than ever, but in my judgment, if eligibility issues and questions of intercollegiate relationship which in the past have been handled by the conference are to be passed upon by another group the Western conference will have surrendered its sovereignty to the North Central association."

Dr. O. F. Long, faculty representative at Northwestern, said there can be no middle ground in the conflict between the conference and the North Central. Either the Big Ten must surrender its control of athletics, or fight to retain the position it has held since the conference was organized 33 years ago.

Sports Question Box
Question—Has Jackie Fields outgrown the welterweight class? Would he be strong enough at that weight against boys like Tommy Freeman, Young Corbett, or Young Jack Thompson?
Answer—Fields fights best at 147 pounds. He hovers around that weight all the time. Yes.

Question—In the ninth inning, with two out, the batter hits the ball and steals second base. As he does so the next batter hits a foul. The runner on second remains there. No one ordered him back. Pitcher throws another ball to the batter who has fouled. He bats a two bagger which scores both runners. Baseman is thrown out at third base to end the inning. Opposing team refuses to play its half of the ninth with score 11 to 5 against it. What should have been done. Is the runner out who did not go back to first after a foul was hit?
Answer—As no one saw the play everybody was remiss and if the umpires decreed that the play should stand as made they would be fair to all. But something else took place. One team refused to play and the game was forfeited. A forfeit was more important than anything else and that team lost.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—
On the second day of their training at San Antonio, the Giants concluded that the lively ball is not deceased. . . they banded the new apple to both the right and left field fences. . . Pete Donohue expects some help from it, however. . . he believes he can make it do queer things on a damp day. . . "With dirt sticking in those raised seams, it will do plenty of tricks," comments the Texan. Apparently, Jackie Fields will meet Len Harvey after all. . . Jackie was able to convince the N. Y. commission that Jack Keane was not his manager. . . and never had been. . . Keane, though, that Keane should have been in his corner the last time this department witnessed the ex-champion of the welters in action. . . and it was only a few months ago, too.

Political Fights Dropped As Congress Honors Cooper

BY RUBY A. BLACK
Post-Crescent Washington Correspondent

Washington—The merriment which usually marks the end of a Congress, when enemies are forgotten in song and harassed nerves relaxed after hard work and bitter fights, was overcast with grief Wednesday because immediately after adjournment the body of the beloved dean of the house of representatives Henry Allen Cooper, was to be taken back to its resting place in his home in Racine, Wis.

A committee of 25 congressmen and 15 senators accompanied the body, the bereaved widow, and friends. As the tall, erect figure, its staunch heart stilled and its vigorous spirit quieted in its last repose, started toward Wisconsin on its final journey home, men in Congress who had fought with him and men who had fought against him talked with loving memory of Henry Allen Cooper's sturdy career, marked by distinguished public service and gracious personal traits as well as fiery spirit and an ever-present sense of humor. In the street cars and in the lobbies of the capitol, in the homes of Washington people, wherever there were people who had even heard of Henry Allen Cooper, his sudden but peaceful passing has been discussed since Sunday when he died in the early morning hours in the arms of the wife who had devoted her life to his career and his comfort.

Less than a month ago I sat in his quiet office in the capitol overlooking Pennsylvania-ave, up which the presidents ride to their inauguration, and he talked of freedom and democracy, and of what remains to be done to make this country all its fathers dreamed it might be.

Life Too Short
"Life," he said, "is so short—so short," he who had for a half century in public life fought for what he believed to be right and just, and honorable. A youthful member of the house, hearing about these words of the 80-year-old statesman, commented:

Training Camp Notes
S. T. PETERSBURG, Fla. —(AP)—Babe Ruth has 33 bats, but because "there isn't a good one in the lot," has ordered six more. The more manager Joe McCarthy sees of his New York Yankees, the better he likes them. Yesterday he expressed considerable satisfaction at the power in catcher Bill Dickey's batting and in the flashy work of Will Werber, young shortstop who came to the Yanks from Duke University by way of Albany.

Fort Meyers, Fla. —(AP)—Walter Johnson's tip-off that the Philadelphia Athletics will need more winning pitchers this year if they hope to beat Washington, brought this reply from Connie Mack, boss of the two-time champions: "Washington has a powerful team and is sure to be in the race, but I feel certain the Athletics will repeat if they forget they won two flags in a row and hustle. If the players are in the proper mood and do their best I'm satisfied we will be in another world series next fall."

Clearwater, Fla. —(AP)—After a few experiments with his batting order, Wilbert Robinson, portly platoon of the Brooklyn Dodgers, has just about decided to have Johnny Frederick lead off this season and Fresno Thomson follow him. Frederick is an expert at getting on base while Thomson is a skillful batter who could advance him. "That also will break up my left-hand hitters," Robbie explained. "I'm not sure whether I'll have Herman or O'Doul third, but I'll have Wright hitting fifth."

Avalon, Calif. —(AP)—Whatever improvement the Chicago Cubs show over last season, if any, apparently must come from the pitching staff and the return of Manager Rogers Hornsby to the lineup. The infield will be just as it was expected to be last season, before Lester Bell and Hornsby were injured. They will be at third and second respectively, with Woody English at short, and Charlie Grimm at first base.

San Antonio, Tex. —(AP)—Manager Donie Bush is becoming pensive over the question of who will play first base for the Chicago White Sox this year. Ray Radcliff, from Selma of the late Southeastern league, is the only bona fide candidate. If he fails to produce it is likely that Johnny Watwood will be called in from the outfield for the job.

Bloom, Miss. —(AP)—Determined to strengthen the National's backstop detail, Manager Walter Johnson has singled out Cliff Bolton, young Southern association catcher, for special tutoring. Coach Foley Garrity has been given the task of developing him. Bolton, while a natural hitter, is not so good on the fielding end, and Garrity will attempt to polish him up, especially on taking high fouls.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT
Rochester—Louis "Kid" Kaplan, Meriden, Conn., stopped Tommy Crowley, Pittsburgh (1); Osk Tui, Rochester, outpointed Garfield Johnson, Buffalo (6).

San Francisco—Wesley Mitchell, Salt Lake City, drew with Sammy James, Los Angeles, Negro, (10); Joey Roberts, Oakland, Calif., stopped Bobby Vincent, Ardmore, Okla., (4).

Oakland, Calif. —(AP)—Young Jack Thompson, Oakland, knocked out Babe Anderson, San Jose, Calif., (9).

M. U. Meets Notre Dame
Milwaukee —(AP)—Coach Bill Chandler put his Marquette university basketball team through a strenuous workout yesterday in preparation for their tilt here Friday night with Notre Dame.

where, they say, Henry Allen Cooper saved his government $50,000,000. A notable buccaneer of the era offered Henry Allen Cooper a bribe to withdraw his opposition, but he offered it in a most delicate way. The young congressman did not take the bait. But Henry Allen Cooper won. The story of that strange interview in a room in a Washington hotel long since demolished by progress may never be told, both the skull-capped railroad buccaneer and the young congressman whose body goes back home today are dead and nobody else was present.

Fights Recalled
They recalled here the numerous fights—fights against such titans as "Czar" Tom Reed of Maine, "Uncle Joe" Cannon of Illinois, and "Nick" Longworth himself—which Henry Allen Cooper made against what he deemed to be "gag rule" in the House of Representatives. With his body today goes one who fought with him in one of those historic battles, Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska, who, weary from fighting, nearly winning, and at last losing two of his greatest battles in this session, but prepared to start all over again in a progressive conference next week, nevertheless left his numerous duties because he wanted to go with the body of his friend.

They recalled that dramatic moment when Henry Allen Cooper made an oration on liberty which is still talked about in Washington, the speech which won the battle for the legislature for the Philippine people, a battle he had to win against his own leaders and against the senate.

They recalled how, at the Republican convention in 1924 in Cleveland, Henry Allen Cooper changed a howling mob into an applauding multitude when he presented the minority platforms, winning one delegation after another because of his knowledge of history, his remarkable memory that could quote in such a tense and unpleasant moments words which honored men had spoken on the rights of minorities.

CAGERS WIN LAST GAME OF SEASON, 20-11

Clintonville Loses Battle to
New London Squad
Last Night

Special to Post-Crescent
New London — Playing the last game of the basketball season the Clintonville squad defeated the Clintonville squad Wednesday by a score of 20-11. The Clintonville players battled hard throughout and their inability to connect from the free throw line held down their score. The home team played a lifeless game and displayed more pep in the first quarter than at any other part of the season.

Clintonville scored first when a long toss was good for a basket. Raby tied the count when he was fouled twice. Westphal's free throw, Raby's basket and Pfeiffer's two baskets ended the quarter with the score 3-2.

In the second quarter both teams fouled heavily an each score twice on fouls. Clintonville missed two shot while New London missed three tries. The score at the half was 12-4.

After both teams continued missing shots Pfeiffer drove through the visitors line to annex a basket. Westphal jelled a sleeper and Clintonville tied the game. The remainder of the points in this quarter were all on fouls. In the last quarter Clintonville held the home boy to one free throw while they managed to copy the home team's strategy.

In the preliminary the local freshmen squad won over the Hortonville freshmen.

GREEN BAY CHEESE MAKERS WANT BOARD MOVED TO THAT CITY

Point Out Large Quantities of American-Made Cheese Are Produced There

BY W. F. WINSEY
Green Bay—Although the cheese makers about this city confess that they have not given the subject much study, they are in favor of changing the meeting place of the Plymouth Cheese board from Plymouth to Green Bay.

The reason they give for their choice is that a large proportion of the Wisconsin made American cheese is manufactured near Green Bay and bought and sold in the city. Most Swiss, brick and Limburger cheese, they say, is manufactured in the southern part of the state.

By having the office of the American cheese board centrally located in the production and marketing area, the cheese makers believe that information on prices, market demands and holdings, will be more readily available than at the present time.

Among a large number of cheese factory officials interviewed, and who favored the moving of the office of the cheese board from Plymouth to Green Bay are: Anton Allen, president of The Northeastern Cooperative Milk exchange; Killian Burkart, cheese maker, New Franken Creamery company; M. Christopherson, butter maker at the New Century Creamery company, New Franken; Milton Poesley, town of Eaton, cheese maker at Poland Cheese factory; and Arnold Ohlrogge, cheese maker at the Ohlrogge Cheese factory, town of Eaton.

Mr. Poesley said that Green Bay is the central point for the assembling and distribution of American cheese. Mr. Ohlrogge favored Green Bay as much of the American cheese of the state is bought and sold in the city.

TELLS HOW TO TREAT LAWNS FOR RESULTS

BY W. F. WINSEY
In reply to inquiries, C. J. Chapman, soil specialist of the college of agriculture, is advising the application of 6-8-6 or 5-8-7 commercial fertilizer to lawns in the spring at the rate of 30 pounds to 1,000 square feet. In July apply ammonium sulfate to the same lawns at the rate of 5 pounds per 1,000 square feet and sprinkle the lawn after the application.

The commercial fertilizer formulas "6-8-6" and "5-8-7" are understood by farmers but are something of a mystery to city people. Both of them are mixtures of nitrogen, phosphorus and potash. The 6-8-6 mixture contains 6 per cent of nitrogen, 8 per cent of phosphorus, and 6 per cent of potash. The 5-8-7 mixture contains 5 per cent of nitrogen, 8 per cent of phosphorus and 7 per cent of potash.

The fertilizer selected by the lawn owner may be obtained from the dealer by simply asking for "6-8-6" or "5-8-7".

MANY BRING SOILS SAMPLES FOR TEST AT BROWN-CO MEETS

Tests Reveal Need for Fertilizer to Make Alfalfa Growing Profitable

BY W. F. WINSEY
The first two of a series of 10 soil testing meetings planned for Brown-co last week by J. N. Kavanaugh, county agent, were held in Joseph Whipp's hall, Henryville, and the town hall, Champion Tuesday. The former meeting was conducted by C. J. Chapman, soil specialist of the Wisconsin College of Agriculture, who is assisting the county agent.

Both meetings were well attended and approximately 80 samples of soils were tested during the day.

The series of meetings judging from the slant the farmers are giving them, are really alfalfa meetings. One thousand bushels of alfalfa seed raised in Brown-co last summer has given every farmer a hunch to try raising alfalfa himself or to increase his plantings, this coming spring.

But before the experienced grower plants a new field and the beginner plants his first field, they are anxious to find out which fields on their farm contains the greatest amount of lime and phosphorus, the soil feeds upon which alfalfa thrives. With the information the farmers are seeking in their possession, they may either plant a field that the tests show to be suitable, or they may fit a field by applications of the plant foods the tests show are lacking. The soil tests and the recommendations of the testers show the farmers, also which ones of their fields are suitable for the raising of small grain or corn and which fields need to be prepared by applications of manure or commercial fertilizers. Each farmer was advised to use commercial fertilizer near the hills planting corn, and phosphorus and potash on grain fields in which the tests showed a shortage.

EMPLOYER FAVORS PROPOSED MEASURE ON UNEMPLOYMENT

Type writer Manufacturer Endorses Plan Proposed by Assemblyman

Madison (AP)—Except for some modification to meet the practical needs of steady employment and industrial stabilization, the Groves unemployment bill has the approval of William Mauthe, Fond du Lac, typewriter manufacturer.

"I am for the Groves unemployment bill because it is a step in the right direction," Mr. Mauthe said when he appeared before the assembly judiciary committee yesterday.

"This country can no longer ignore the needs of the times," he said. "Under the Groves measure, employers would pay into a fund managed by the state industrial commission. Payments would be on the basis of wages paid to employees. During times of unemployment the state would administer the money in the fund."

"The Groves plan, carefully modified, or any similar plan should be accepted by both employers and employees as a good beginning," Mr. Mauthe told the committee. "Any plan adopted should provide that the total annual payments into the unemployment reserve fund will not substantially exceed the annual average costs under the Wisconsin workman's compensation act."

"It should not be made possible for workers from other states to rush to Wisconsin with the thought that it is easy to come under our act and draw cash unemployment benefits. If this were permitted, unemployment would increase and wages would go down."

"Casual employment should not come under the act, neither should salesmen, agents and others who are under contract on a commission earning or working basis."

"It is also very important that all major provisions of the law should

IRVING ZOEKE BUILDING

RENTAL OFFICE
Second Floor
ONEIDA STREET ENTRANCE

By Percival Christopher Wren Author of MYSTERIOUS WAVE

SYNOPSIS: The oddity familiar face of a man who confronts Dr. Charters in his consultation room and addresses him as "Half-hung" Simon sits the doctor's memories. Charters, a medical graduate in England, a charlatan and finally a gangster in America, has left Spider Schiltz and Chink Dorson in jail there and returned to England with their, as well as his own, shares of the St. Clair diamond haul. Now he is the proprietor of a fashionable nursing home, one of his patients, being pretty Marjorie Lauderell, who protests that the medicine of Dr. MacAdoo, on his staff, is making her worse. She declares that she was not ill until she moved to the home of her uncle, Mr. Lauderell. Her aunt, whom Charters remembers as Maud, "evil genius" of his American days, hands him a note and tells him that Marjorie's twenty-first birthday is September first.

Chapter 3
WITHIN A couple of seconds of the intruder's question, "Well, and how are things going with Half-hung Simon?" Dr. Charters replied coolly: "Is it possible that you are addressing me?"

"Possible, and in fact, certain, since there is nobody else in the room," answered the other.

"Then I have no option but to suppose you're mad," observed the Doctor coolly, his piercing eyes searching those of the newcomer, and failing to daunt them.

"Right, Simon, first time. Mad as a hatter. And what fitter place, or person, for a dangerous homicidal lunatic to come to?"

"How and what did you get in here?" asked Dr. Charters.

"Through that invitingly open window, a second ago, Simon."

"How did you get into the grounds?" pursued the Doctor.

"Over the 12-foot wall, iron spikes, broken glass and all. By way of the branch of a tree. Slimy Simon—not a rotten branch though."

"And, before the blazing look of hate in the man's eyes as he thrust his cruel face into that of Dr. Charters, the latter almost quailed."

"And so you're mad, are you?" he temporized.

"You've said it, Simon. And you've got to say it again at the right time and in the right place."

"What do you mean? And what do you want?" asked the Doctor perfunctorily as he considered the man, the past, and the situation.

"Oh, lots of things. Two for a start— asylum and an alibi."

"Doubtless you're mad, but this is not an asylum."

"Witty Simon! It's going to be an asylum for me, though, and the alibi is going to be both physical and mental."

"I don't know what you're talking about. Do you?"

"Oh, yes, Simon.... Spider Schiltz has got his."

If the expression on Dr. Charters' inscrutable face changed at all, it was in the direction of greater inscrutability.

"And pray who might Spider Schiltz be?" he asked patiently.

"Oh, come off it, Simon. Don't waste time. Cards down and hands up. Spider Schiltz is, or rather was, the dear old pal of Half-hung Simon, (alias Doc Sellar, alias Linzy Doc, alias English Simon, alias The Reverend, alias Soapy Sam Symmons). Also dear old pal of Black Jack, Spud Hooley, Jim Crow, Ching Dorson, Slim Spike Simmons, Chicago May, Frisco Fanny, Gunman Gryde, Bonunk Marwitz, The Bad Wop, Dutch Dettlinger, Shorty Long, Eddie Guerin, Billy the Kid, and the rest of the boys."

"And Spider Schiltz has got his, has he? And you want an alibi and an asylum?"

"You've grasped it, Simon. You've got to prove that I've been here somewhat longer than I have; and alternatively you've got to prove that, in any case, I'm much too bug-house, far too mad to have known what I was doing, or to be held responsible. A mental alibi in fact."

"And how should the second arise, if the first one is good?" inquired the Doctor, humoring the self-declared lunatic.

"Why, now, Simon, suppose that, in spite of your proofs and protestations, I'd been seen at Spider Schiltz's place—identifications, footprints, finger-marks—and I was for it—that's where the looney-lops would get me off.... Get me sent-up instead of strung-up, anyhow; if not acquitted."

"And where should I be, if I swore you were here and it was proved you were there?" asked the Doctor.

"Why, shouldn't that only be a further proof of the cunning of the madman? I must have slipped away from here and done it, and got back again, without being missed. If I were seen and they track me down and try to prove it on me, that is."

"And why, exactly, did you do it?" asked the Doctor.

"Now you're asking questions, Slimy," and the madman with an ugly leering grin, playfully shook his finger in the Doctor's face.

"Did you come straight here from Witherby End?"

"Ah! Got you!... How does the innocent Dr. Charters happen to know that Spider Schiltz's place is the Witherby End of the well-known racetrack owner and sportsman, Mr. Theophilus Webb?"

"And with a thoroughly ugly laugh, the madman, picked up an ebony ruler and poked the unsmiling Doctor in the ribs."

"Who said Mr. Theophilus Webb of Witherby End was Spider Schiltz of the old gang?" the madman repeated.

Slowly nodding his head, Dr. Charters tacitly admitted that the time had come to change his ground. Taking that gentleman's advice, he metaphorically put his cards on the table and his hands up.

"And why did you go after Spider Schiltz?" he asked again.

"A twisted, cruel smile was the only reply."

"Well, who are you, anyway?" pursued the Doctor.

"Still inquisitive! I'll tell you who I am, all in good time, Simon. Mean time I'll tell you what I am."

"I'm the most valuable and invaluable patient in your nursing-home. I'm the man you've got to take the utmost care of. You've got to keep me very happy, keep me from brooding on the past—your past, Soapy! And, above all, you've got to keep me safe from the long arm of the law; for, if they get me, how I shall squeak and squawk and squeal, Slimy! And what a tale I shall have to tell!"

"So you'll take the greatest care of me, won't you? And if anybody wants to know, I've been here for a week, in bed. I'm going to bed now, and I think I'll get up to-morrow and let everybody see how dotty—though harmless—I am."

(Copyright, 1931, By Frederick A. Stokes Co.)

A temple bell sounds in tomorrow's installment and brings this strange patient to Rosemary!

MY, HOW COLD!
He: I dreamt of you last night. She (coldly): Really!
He: Yes; then I woke up, shut the window, and put an extra blanket on the bed.—Tit-Bits.

Willard Dealer Tells of New Type 15-Plate Battery for Light Cars

The other day we were discussing with Mr. George Schwab, manager of the Gibson Tire & Battery Co., local Willard distributor, the popularity of the new type light car storage battery that Willard introduced to the battery field not long ago. "To my mind," said Mr. Schwab, "the light car field has long needed a quality built battery of just this type. This new type battery was introduced to the Willard line about a year ago. Hitherto, most batteries especially designed for light cars, have had 13 or 11 plates. This battery has 15 plates.

Consider for a moment what this means, especially in cold weather. In winter time, when starting is usually difficult, even in a car with a comparatively light engine, the two extra plates in this battery are going to make a big difference. The extra power afforded by two more plates per cell, will usually give the light car driver just that added punch so necessary on a wintry day to spin his engine. It also means that with this increased plate area, the battery will be able to pick up a greater charge while the car is running on winter days—and thus afford a much greater margin of protection for the light car owner who finds it necessary frequently to leave his car standing in zero weather. In my opinion, this 15-plate winter performance will certainly make a big appeal to thousands of light car owners, for whom only 15-plate batteries have heretofore been available.

Newest Annuals Are Coming From South African Flora

The really new annuals, that is, new species, not varieties of old well-established annuals, are coming to us from the great wealth of South African flora and all are composites of daisy types in a great variety of gorgeous colorings. Unfortunately all are not of the easiest culture and do not grow as vigorously and with as little trouble as the advance guard of South African daisies now fairly familiar in gardens, the arctotis and dimorphotheca.

Most brilliant of these is venidium fastuosum, glittering orange with a black disk and black zone about the disk. This annual comes to us with a European reputation for glittering, gorgeous beauty but it has not proved easy to grow, being difficult of germination to start with. Much seed was sown last year without resulting plants.

It is worth a struggle, however, and once started and given a warm, well-drained situation with all the sun possible, it will give a grand display of color. Seed should be sown indoors in March, kept reasonably moist and fairly warm, not difficult in the average dwelling. Then venidium has been represented by a form introduced with alluring description some years ago as venidium calendulaeum. It is now classed as an arctotis and resembles a single calendula. It is easy to grow but no better than a single calendula and we prefer the double ones.

The urinia is another South African daisy of gorgeous coloring some what similar to the new venidium but also a little difficult but earlier than the venidium. It should also be planted indoors. The Kingfisher Daisy, felicia berginiana, is another of these novelties, a daisy of beautiful blue coloring and reputed the easiest of the three to grow. It will be a matter of great interest as well as resulting in unusual beauty, if successful, for gardeners to try out at least one of these new annuals. There are some new forms of the better-known arctotis and dimorphotheca also well worth giving a trial. These daisies have a trick of shutting up at night, which makes them poor cutting material for evening display, but they are glorious bouquet material during the day.

Charlotte, N. C. In 1930, had 44 homicides, equivalent to 41.6 per 100,000 population, as compared to Chicago's rate of 11.5 per 100,000.

BEARS YIELD MART GRIP TO BULL ELEMENT

Forces Direct Attention to Steel and Utility Centers

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER
Associated Press Financial Editor
New York—(AP)—The bear forces, after having things pretty much their own way for five days, were forced to yield before a bull offensive centering in the steel and utilities in today's stock market.

The brightening of the share market represented in part a somewhat tardy response to the adjournment of congress, but a real bull celebration failed to appear. In the main, it appeared to reflect a correction of excessive bearishness. Speculative sentiment, fickle and largely unreasoning, had grown as gloomy as it was buoyant a week ago.

Further selling in the rails and miscellaneous shares gave the list a heavy tone in the morning, but selling soon shrunk to meager proportions. The market turned emphatically upward in the middle of the day. In the steels, U. S. Bethlehem and Republic gained a point or more. Among the smaller independent, Superior rose more than 3, and Transue and Williams about 5, both more than doubling their January prices. American Can was soon brought forward as a leader of the principal industrials, selling up more than 3. Allied Chemical made a similar advance. A wide assortment of shares showed advances of a point or two, including American Telephone, United Corp., Consolidated Gas, American and Foreign Power, General Electric, Rock, Loews, Sears, New York Central and Rock Island. International Telephone rose 2 in response to a report that the regular dividend would be paid.

The rail issues appeared largely to have discounted the adverse dividend actions of the previous day, although the terms announced that the directors had "postponed" action on the payment due April 15 was somewhat confusing. Since the action had been deferred previously and the time before payment is due is now short, Wall Street is inclined to view the situation as tantamount to an omission, although official comment was lacking.

Adjustment Bullish
Wall Street regarded the adjournment of congress as bullish, both for the rails and utilities. It was pointed out that no action to hamper the four-party eastern railway consolidation plan had been taken. With rail earnings holding at low levels, however, and doubt over maintenance of other dividends remaining, bullishness was applied primarily to the utilities.

The heavy selling of the carrier issues yesterday had obscured the favorable aspects of the weekly steel trade reviews. While the uptrend in the industry has lacked vitality, and earnings are anything but satisfactory for most producers, there is much confidence in further acceleration during the latter half of the year, and some quarters were more hopeful today of better prices for steel products for the second quarter.

The money market remained firm. There was no call money available under 13 per cent, and loan calling was fairly heavy.

HOG PRICES RETAIN STEADY, FIRM TREND

Few Sales Reported on Livestock Market—Lamb
Prices Tumble

Chicago—(AP)—In the few sales that were completed in the early hog market, prices held about steady with the average of yesterday. Good lightweights scaling 160-180 lbs ranged from $7.35 to $7.40, and 250 lb medium weights went to local killers at $7.10. Indications that sellers were not satisfied with the $7.50 top quoted at the outset were borne out by demands for more than that figure, for a load of two select 200 lb lights. Some support for sellers' contentions was seen in the fact that there were only 20,000 head of hogs on sale, after 5,000 had been sent to the slaughter houses direct, and the run of 26,000. Added to this number were the 4,000 hold-overs.

Firmness in dressed beef on the closing sales yesterday at the principal eastern points, as well as at Chicago, made the outlook for the market today fairly certain of fulfillment. The local supply of 7,000 head exceeded expectations somewhat, but was not sufficient to overburden the market. More steers were included in the run than yesterday, and demand was strong enough at the outset to enable selling to move along at steady prices. A range of $7.50-$9.50 accounted for most of the early sales.

Humbled by the drive on prices of the last two days, the lamb market started out with quotations at the lowest level in several weeks. Buyers were willing to pay $8.75 for select light lambs, but the best were held at near $9.00, and there was no agreement between buyers and sellers on this class. Packers began operations on 90,000 kinds at $8.25 to $8.50, which was even with the prices prevailing at the close of yesterday's trading. Demand was better than early yesterday, and more like active closing trade.

PRICE OF CORN CUT IN SUPPLY

Gain of Only 2,500,000
Bushels Over 1930
Crop Reported

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN
Associated Press Market Editor
Chicago—(AP)—Corn prices developed strength today largely because of attention to the corn visible supply, 19,000,000 bushels compared with a five year average of 36,000,000. The increase so far this year has been only 2,500,000 against 19,000,000 in 1930. Sales of United States wheat to Havre and Marseilles, France, were reported.

Primary arrivals of corn promoted by sales of 1,000,000 bushels of corn compared with 955,000 a week ago and 795,000 at this time last year. Chicago receipts, 204 cars were also smaller than a year back. In contrast, wheat primary receipts were large, 1,435,000 bushels against 1,303,000 a week ago and 880,000 on the corresponding day of 1930.

Helping to check wheat declines were reports that the grain stabilization corporation had been making daily sales to continental European buyers. Notice was also taken that the corporation would soon move 500,000 bushels out of Chicago to provide additional storage room for future arrivals. Another strengthening influence was talk that a severe frost would damage domestic wheat by catching the crop in a period of abnormally early growth. Oats were easy, governed by wheat.

Provisions demand was slow.

Grain Notes

Chicago—(AP)—The trade in wheat is so small that prices do not actually reflect conditions at all times. Says the United Grain company, "Wheat stocks are accumulating, as indicated by Bradstreet's visible supply this year, as compared with a period of 11 years. At present there are 462,805,000 bushels against 417,255,000 bushels last year. With the exception of 1928, accumulations never reached the 300,000,000 bushels at this season, the nearest approach being 288,000,000 bushels in 1924."

Sentiment in grains leads more to the buying side, especially on breaks. It is said that traders have become too much accustomed to the selling side, finding that there was not enough pressure coming from the outside to make short sales safe. This is particularly the case with corn, where several of the large shorts were covering, one of them preparing for a vacation. It is said that a few traders are looking for a break in May wheat as bids aggregating 1,000,000 bushels good all next week, have been bought at 80¢ or 3¢ cent under the pegged price.

The few traders who are bullish on corn are said to be buying September on all breaks. It has dropped to a discount under July, while, recently it was at a premium. The situation, they say, favors the September.

Prices Shift Frequently in Light Trading—Utilities
Lead

New York—(AP)—Speculative activity was further reduced on the curb today. Prices shifted frequently in light trading, but changes in a majority of the active issues were fractional.

Utilities made a bid for attention with a small rally during the morning, when Electric Bond and Share rose a couple of points. Bulls lost heart when other groups failed to lead on difficult trading.

News that Colombian Petroleum company, controlled by Gulf, was getting a 50-year concession in Colombia found the oil shares generally a little smaller dealings, while Carbide syndicate also has an interest in the Colombian company was fairly active, although slightly changed.

Minor movements ruled in most of the industrials and specialties. Masad Johnson regained the ground lost yesterday. Cooper Bessmer lost more than 2 points under further selling on the omission of the dividend. Driver Harris and Technicolor eased.

Investment trusts were steady and featureless. The money markets were considerably firmer, but there was no change in the renewal rate of 2 per cent.

New York—(AP)—February sales of the McCrory Stores Corp., increased 13 per cent over figures for the corresponding month of 1930, totaling $2,945,912, compared with $2,906,337 for February last year. Sales for January and February this year totaled $5,848,415, an increase of 14 per cent over $5,601,474 reported for the like months of 1930.

Lerner Stores Corp. reported February sales of $1,697,106, an increase of 11.78 per cent over $1,513,177 for February last year.

The International Harvester company will suspend production of tractors at its Milwaukee, Wis., plant about March 15. This is considerably earlier than usual. Production of cream separators and milking machines at the Milwaukee will continue on the present basis of three nine-hour days a week.

A committee of the National Metal Exchange of New York has been appointed to consider the advisability of establishing a silver futures market. Years ago there was such a market on the New York stock exchange but it was abandoned because demand was slight. There is virtually no speculation in silver except in the orient and dealings in futures at New York are very irregular.

POOR EARNINGS AGAIN AFFECT STOCK PRICES

Wall Street Claims Stocks
Have Advanced too
Rapidly for Dividends.

BY CHARLES F. SPEARE
Copyright, 1931, By Cons. Press
New York.—(CNA)—The factors of poor corporation earnings and possible dividend reductions are again playing a part in stock market movements, after having been ignored during the past two months.

Wall Street felt that it had discounted these conditions in the low average of securities last December. It now takes the view that stocks have gone ahead faster than the improvement in business activity and sentiment warranted and that they have not recognized the lack of betterment since the first of this year.

The unsatisfactory state of corporation earnings has been emphasized this week by the statements of the railroads for January, showing a reduction of over 37 per cent compared with a year ago and a loss of more than 53 per cent in contrast with the net operating income in January 1929 when business was booming. It has also been evidenced in the preliminary estimates, or "guesses," of net profits in the major industries, such as in iron and steel, copper and automobiles, in the first two months of 1931. These are in some cases poorer than those for the last quarter of 1930.

Show Profit

This quarter showed a progressive reduction in net profits compared with that ending June 30. A compilation of business profits last year, just published by the National City bank, indicates that while there was a decline of 30 per cent in the returns of 550 companies in the first half of last year, the reduction in net profits of over 600 industrial and merchandising corporations for the entire twelve months was 40 per cent. Consequently, and taking the January earnings of the railroads as a cue, these being poorer in January than in December, the inference is that the final figures for the March quarter 1931 will show that there has been very little gain in actual earnings applicable to fixed charges and dividends although the groundwork of permanent stability in business is now being established.

The largest losses in net profits last year, according to the National City bank survey, were those of 51.6 per cent in iron and steel, 51.3 per cent in automobiles, about 60 per cent in automobile accessories, 61 per cent in textile products, over 70 per cent in copper, 45 per cent in petroleum, 47 per cent in machinery and tools, 39.8 per cent in electrical equipment, nearly 3 per cent in lumber, 81 per cent in mail order and merchandising, 32 per cent in agricultural implements and 30 per cent in building materials.

These Increased

The industries which showed increases last year over 1929 were amusements 6.7 per cent, fertilizer 23.3 per cent, tobacco 3.3 per cent,

Coolidge Still Whittlin' 2 Years After Retirement

Northampton, Mass. — (AP) — Two years ago Wednesday Calvin Coolidge stepped from the White House and came home to Northampton to whittle a while.

The second anniversary of his return today found the former president still whittlin' on his own doorstep—though the chips fly a bit farther than they used to years ago.

Today, too, it's a different doorstep from that of the simple, rentable house from which he stepped into public life and to which he returned two years ago. But it's his own and here, seemingly, he's content to remain, whittlin' for a while longer.

Whittlin', to the New Englander, is as much a state of mind as an occupation. It doesn't necessarily involve a jackknife and a stick of wood. And the former president of the United States, his acquaintances here say, is finding it a peaceful and not unpleasant state.

Nearly 34 years ago Mr. Coolidge entered the life of this county as a practicing lawyer. Two years later, with his election as a city councillor, he started upon the career that eventually carried him to the presidency. Only when he turned over the White House to his successor was he entirely free of the responsibilities of public office. And those who know him say that he has found the freedom not unpleasant.

The law offices in the Masonic building—"Coolidge and Hemmaway"—reads the sign upon the door—still provide the office where he works each day. The law firm of Coolidge and Hemmaway no longer exists as a firm but the partner, Ralph Hemmaway, still occupies the office as he did throughout the years that Mr. Coolidge was, in turn, governor of Massachusetts, vice president and then president, and from it he conducts his law business. When the former president came home space was made for him and he moved in.

dairy products 7.3 per cent, drugs 6.3 per cent, and confectionary and beverages slightly less than 1 per cent.

The aggregate net profits of the 550 corporations declined $1,372,000, or 30.3 per cent, from $4,512,000 in 1929 to $3,140,000 in 1930. The loss in 1930 was $1,372,000, or 30.3 per cent, from $4,512,000 in 1929 to $3,140,000 in 1930.

The change, reckoned from the standpoint of the rate of return on capital and surplus, is shown to have been from 13.3 per cent in 1929 down to 7.2 per cent in 1930. Out of the 600 corporations reporting, there were 20 per cent that had deficits before dividends. The groups from which these deficits drew most heavily were cotton, silk and hosiery, apparel, steel, automobile and automobile accessory manufacturers, machinery and tools, electrical and radio companies, and Cuban sugar producers, of which 14 out of 18 reported deficits.

not to practice law but to carry on the affairs that now occupy him.

His daily schedule varies little. He arrives at his office about 9 o'clock each morning and goes over his mail and reads several daily newspapers. Then he turns to the work of preparing his 200-word article for the next day. This he writes out carefully in longhand. It is then turned over to a typist who writes it out and returns the typed copy to him. He goes over this, revises it and sends it out about noon. He then goes home to lunch and usually remains an hour and a half or two hours when he returns to his office and plans his next day's article. Occasionally there are visitors whom he receives. Usually he leaves his office between 4 and 5 o'clock p. m. and goes home for the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge have dinner together and occasionally have guests at dinner. The gatherings are virtually always informal. Aside from an occasional stroll about the grounds of his home, Mr. Coolidge ordinarily remains in during the evening, reading.

Best Remedy for Cough Is Easily Mixed at Home

You'll never know how quickly a stubborn cough or chest cold can be conquered, until you try this famous recipe. It is used in millions of homes, because it gives more prompt, positive relief than anything else. It's no trouble at all to mix and costs but a trifle. Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to make a full pint. This saves two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough medicine, and gives you a purer, better remedy. It never spoils, and tastes good—children like it.

You can actually feel its penetrating, soothing action on the inflamed throat membranes. It is also absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. At the same time, it promptly loosens the germ-laden phlegm. This three-fold action explains why it brings such quick relief even in severe bronchial coughs which follow cold epidemics.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

High Praise Given Crile By Einstein

New York.—(AP)—Praise and encouragement for the research of Dr. George W. Crile was voiced Wednesday by Dr. Albert Einstein in a breakfast meeting with the Cleveland surgeon.

Dr. Crile's auto-synthetic cell project was explained to Dr. Einstein by Dr. Crile during the train trip here from Chicago.

"The conclusions of Dr. Crile will be vindicated scientifically," said Dr. Einstein. "He has gone a tremendous step forward in making inanimate material live."

However, Dr. Einstein expressed the view that the cell is not the smallest unit of life and that something smaller would have to be worked out for use in the problem of creating life.

Dr. Crile did not have an opportunity to demonstrate his cell as he did to professional men several months ago but he explained in detail to Dr. Einstein his process of reforming and giving cell characteristics to dried calves brains, which had been broken down into fats, proteins and ash.

Dr. Crile left the Deutschland after breakfast and Dr. Einstein received Prof. Paul Lorenz of New York, who explained a theory which he termed "fourth-dimensional" music.

The music lecturer said Dr. Einstein was interested in the theory which Prof. Lorenz said some of the Einstein scientific conclusions have been applied.

The new musical theory would employ full tones, half-tones, quarter and eighth tones.

"It gets back to the lyric lines of melodies and away from the harmonic," said Prof. Lorenz.
